ROLL OF HONOUR.

IN MEMORIAM.

ANDERSON—In loving memory of dear Arthur, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Dunmanway, who paid the supreme sacrifice March 21st, 1918.
We miss the hand-clasp, miss the loving smile,
Our hearts are broken; yet a little while
And we shall meet within the Golden Gate,
God comfort us, God help us, while we wait.
Georgie.

ANDERSON-DOUGHERTY—Reported missing since March 21, 1918, Sydney Anderson-Dougherty, signal section, 15th R. Irish Rifles, only beloved child of the late Captain R. Anderson-Dougherty, Royal Indian Marine, Calcutta and Baghdad, and Mrs. M. Leslie O'Brien, 10 Lower Beechwood av., Ranelagh, Dublin. Ever remembered in deep love and grief.—Mother. North of Ireland papers please copy.

BELAS—In ever-loving memory of my beloved son, Reginald C. W. Belas, Second Lieutenant, Royal Dublin Fusiliers, killed in action, at St. Quentin, the 21st of March, 1918.
A few more trials here,
A few more partings o'er;
A few more toils, a few more tears,
And we shall weep no more.

CATHIE—In ever-loving memory of my dear husband, Commander R. A. Cathie, R.N., who died 20th March, 1918. Inserted by his loving wife and family.

de BERG—In memory of Erik de Berg, Trooper, South Irish Horse (attached 7th Battalion Royal Irish Regiment), killed in action, before St. Quentin, on 21st March, 1918, aged 24 years. "Quis separabit."

WHAT PEOPLE THINK
of Beecham's Pills is well expressed in the ever popular phrase—coined by one who had derived great benefit from this medicine—"Worth a Guinea a Box." It represents really what people in thousands think about Beecham's Pills. Public opinion has great weight with most people. Those who appreciate the fact that Beecham's Pills have secured universal approval will be disposed to give them a trial. There will be no disappointment—Beecham's Pills will justify the confidence placed in them.
Few medicines can boast
OF
such a record. few can claim to have given such unqualified satisfaction, as Beecham's Pills. Prepared from the purest and most carefully selected ingredients, this remedy will be found of the greatest service in cases of dyspeptic trouble. Beecham's Pills relieve and remove biliousness, constipation, acidity, sick headache, flatulence and other ailments of a like nature. They also will be found of service to those who value a clear complexion, for they exercise a very purifying influence upon the blood. Those who have used them recommend them. What people think about them is evident enough from the enormous sale of

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

ENGLAND v. SCOTLAND.

The match between England and Scotland at Twickenham to-day should prove the most interesting of the series of international games. Scotland is the only unbeaten country to date, but a defeat to-day would leave the honours of the season divided between England, Scotland, and Wales. When C. N. Lowe (Cambridge and England) and G. R. Crole (Oxford and Scotland) meet as opposing wing three-quarters they will renew a duel which formed one of the best features of the last Inter-Varsity game decided before the war. Since that contest they have been engaged as fliers on another wing—as airmen in the great war. Both rendered fine service in the R.A.F., and both won the Military Cross, Lowe gaining the Distinguished Flying Cross as well.

We learned last night that G. S. Conway (Cambridge University) will play for England in place of F. Taylor (Leicester), so that there will be no one change on each team from the selected sides.

At Lansdowne road the two remaining matches in the second round of the Leinster Senior Cup will be played. Civil Service and Palmerston, two clubs new to senior football this season, meet in the first game at 2.30, and immediately following Bective Rangers and University College take the field. The second match promises to be particularly interesting.

TEAMS FOR TO-DAY.

England—B. S. Cumberlege (Blackheath); S. W. Harris (Blackheath), E. Hammett (Blackheath), E. Myers (Bradford), C. N. Lowe (Blackheath); C. A. Kershaw and W. J. A. Davies (United Services); J. E. Greenwood (Cambridge), A. F. Blakiston (Northampton), R. W. Mellish (Blackheath); S. Smart (Gloucester), A. T. Yeove (Gloucester), W. W. Wakefield (Harlequins), T. Woods, G. S. Conway (Cambridge University).

Scotland—G. L. Pattullo (Panmure); G. R. Crole (Oxford University), J. R. Bruce-Lockhart (London Scottish); A. W. Angus (Watsonians), T. Sloan (Edinburgh Academicals), E. C. Fahmy (Abertillery), A. Nimmo (Watsonians); C. M. Usher (London Scottish), D. D. Duncan (Oxford), F. Kennedy (Stewart's College), R. A. Gallie (Glasgow Academicals), N. Macpherson (Newport), G. Dods (Kirkcaldy), G. H. H. Maxwell (R.A.F.), and A. Wemyss (Edinburgh Wanderers).

THE BELFAST FOOTBALL RIOT.

SURPRISING SEQUEL TO DISQUALIFICATION.

At a meeting of the Irish Football Association held in Belfast last night the scene arising out of the riot that occurred in the Irish Cup semi-final between Belfast Celtic and Glentoran was under consideration. After a full discussion, it was decided to suspend Belfast Celtic from taking part in Association football under the jurisdiction of the Irish Football Association until the matter be further considered on March 30th.

Belfast Celtic protested against Glentoran for playing an ineligible player, and Glentoran were dismissed from the competition. There will, therefore, be no Irish Cup final, Shelbourne being awarded the trophy.

Barnett, the Belfast Celtic player, whom the referee ordered off the field, was suspended until the end of the season.

GOLF.

CASTLE.—The St. Patrick's Challenge Cup was won by R. C. Chilton (9), 5 down; Dr. H. Jackson (24) and A. J. Geary (17), tied with 5 down for second. A series of foursome sweepstakes have been arranged, commencing to-day. Entries with the secretary before 2 o'clock.

THE MEATH.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

On Monday the venue was laid at Lake View, Mullingar. Only one fox was accounted for, there being no run of any note with him, and all other coverts—viz., Mullagh Hills, Leitrim Bog, Maperath, Oakley Park, Headfort, and Charlestort—were blank.

Tuesday—Laracor. General Powell went first to Trotter's Gorse, which held a brace of foxes. The one hunted led out to the big double near Rock Lodge, where he ran out of scent in a storm of snow and rain. Major Fox's covert at Hilarin has been stubbed up, and is not now in holding condition, so it was naturally blank, the next find being in Kilvarity. Hounds hunted this fox along the above fence, and round Kilcarty House, back into the covert. They forced him out again, when he crossed the double, pointing for the Ardbraccan country, but got to ground two fields from it. From Curtistown a fox led parallel with the Trim-Athboy railway line; then bending to the left, and being hunted on nearly to Pike Corner before getting in. Found next in Artinlowen. Hunted this fox up to Bill's Helper, then over the road at General Hammond's residence, and lost him near Killeen Gorse, which finished.

HOCKEY.

LADIES' INTERNATIONAL.

IRELAND v. SCOTLAND.

The following team has been selected to represent Ireland against Scotland in the Ladies' International, Park, to be played on April 17th, at Monkstown:—Miss Ewart (Knock); Mrs. Charley (Knock) and Miss Fudger (Waterford); Miss Flavelle (Dublin University), Miss O'Kelly (Alexandra College), Miss Cummins (University College, Cork); Miss Pim (Maids of the Mountain), Miss Ewart (Dublin University), Miss O'Reilly (Maids of the Mountain), Miss Taylor (Knock), and Miss Smilie (Knock).

ALL-IRELAND CUP—SEMI-FINAL.

MAIDS OF THE MOUNTAIN v. WATERFORD.

Maids of the Mountain yesterday qualified for the final of the All-Ireland Cup by defeating Waterford at Milltown by 5 goals to 1, and they will play Knock in the final to-day at the National University ground, Terenure, at 3.30. Yesterday's match was about the least interesting of the week's games, and the big margin in the winner's favour was a pretty accurate summing-up of the merits of the teams. There was, in fact, no comparison between the two sides. Maids of the Mountain played well together, and were an evenly balanced lot, whereas their opponents relied mainly on individual effort, particularly the forwards, who often as not when attacking were in each other's way, the three insides keeping too close together. Miss Fudger, the centre-forward, tried very hard to open out the game, but all to no purpose, and individually she was the outstanding forward. Miss Coad at centre-half and Miss Fudger at left-back played really well, and Miss White effected some good clearances in goal; but the team were well outplayed in each period. There was not a weak spot in the winning side. The forwards were splendidly led by Miss O'Reilly, whose selection to play against Scotland was a foregone conclusion. Her shooting was not as accurate as usual, but she distributed the play with good judgment. Miss Pim, on the right wing, was not in brilliant form against Ulster, but her speed and well-judged passes and centres were a big factor in the success of the team, while Miss Lynch greatly enhanced her reputation by scoring 3 goals. The backs were always equal to the task of holding the opposing forwards, Miss Mahony, at centre-half, doing excellent work, and Miss Mahony brought off several capital saves in goal. The Maids led at the interval by 3-0, Miss Lynch getting all the goals. Miss Minch notched the fourth, and after Miss O'Reilly had netted the fifth Miss Fudger scored for Waterford. Result ....

Maids of the Mountain 5
Waterford 1

Waterford—Miss White; Miss R. F. Broomhead, Miss L. Fudger; Mrs. Merry, Miss L. Coad, Miss E. Dobbyn; Miss M. Fudger, Miss B. Broomhead, Miss O. Broomhead, Miss O'Grady, Mrs. D. Regan.

Maids of the Mountain—Misses G. Mahony; G. Eyre and Y. Balfe; M. Balfe, T. Mahony, and E. Kelly; D. Pim, M. Lynch, H. O'Reilly, F. Roper, and M. Minch.

TO-DAY'S FINAL.

MAIDS OF THE MOUNTAIN v. KNOCK.

The final will be played to-day on the National University ground, Terenure, at 3.30. The Maids of the Mountain will be represented by the same team that defeated Waterford yesterday, and the Knock team will be as follows:—Miss Ewart; Mrs. Charley, Miss Forsyth; Miss C. Smilley, Miss Archdale, Miss M. Malcolm, Miss Dalziel, Miss Rodden, Miss Simms, Miss Taylor, and Miss J. Smiley.

MILLS CUP.

ROYAL HIBERNIANS (5) v. DUBLIN UNIVERSITY (0).

Played yesterday in the Phœnix Park. Hibernians had most of the play in the first half, but only scored once, per Kirkwood, the Varsity defence being sound, Bridge especially. The second period was much more even, but Cork and Redmond increased the lead. Teams —

Royal Hibernians—Smith; Godfrey, Long; Crombie, McDonnell, Eccleston; Redmond, Parslow, Kirkwood, Cole, Carter.

Dublin University—Ennis; Bridge, Phillips; Boyd, Murphy, Strong; Wilde, Mahony, Varian, Aykroyd, Eyre.

Umpires—Messrs. Mills and McDonnell.

SANDOWN PARK MEETING —YESTERDAY.

A record attendance was secured at Sandown Park yesterday, and the racing was a distinct improvement upon that of the previous day. The Gold Cup furnished quite an interesting race, in which the grey, White Surrey, was always running prominently, in the company of Carrigrue, who was done with three fences from home, at which point The Fly III. entered into the argument, and he jumped the last obstacle upsides with the favourite, who, however, possessed the better speed, and brought to victory the colours of Admiral of the Fleet Sir Rodworth Meux. Details:—

1.45—COOMBE SPRINGS HURDLE, £200. 2 m.

Mr. Partridge b. h. MOUNTAIN PASS, by Carpathian—Octoroon Girl. 4, 11-12....W. Smith 1

CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, FRIDAY NIGHT.

The Gold Cup day at Sandown Park was a hugely successful affair. Saturday's card has an open appearance, and several of the problems will not be easily solved. The field for the Imperial Cup will probably number a dozen or thirteen runners, including that smart, young horse, Trespasser, who is unlikely to have matters all his own way this time. I regard Trespasser, Morning Star, and Kirkharle as the pick of the acceptors, and, perhaps, Trespasser or Kirkharle may prove equal to the occasion. My selections for the other races are as follow:—Open Hurdle Race—Shining More or Arborfield. United Services' Steeplechase—Prickly. Grand Military Handicap—South Lodge; if absent, Carrigrue. Tally-Ho Steeplechase—The Devil to Pay. Maiden Steeplechase—Ford Valley or Clear Money.

LAW REPORTS.

THE DUNLOP ADVERTISEMENTS.

In the Chancery Division, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. Justice Powell gave judgment in favour of the plaintiff in the interlocutory action of Dunlop v. the Dunlop Rubber Company, in which the intended plaintiff, Mr. J. B. Dunlop, of Dublin, had obtained an order granting him leave to issue and serve a writ of summons out of the jurisdiction on the intended defendants, the Dunlop Rubber Company, Limited, at their registered offices at Clerkenwell road, London. The action was being brought to obtain an injunction to restrain the defendants from printing, publishing, or exhibiting in Ireland any advertisements, placards, books, or circulars containing pictures representing, or purporting to represent, Mr. Dunlop in absurd or unsuitable costumes or attitudes, or caricatures of him, or otherwise calculated to expose him to public ridicule and contempt by misrepresenting his appearance or costume. Mr. Dunlop complained that for some time past the defendant company, without permission, had been exhibiting in Ireland and elsewhere advertisements, placards, books, and pictures representing him in absurd and unsuitable costumes or attitudes, or caricatures, calculated to expose him to public ridicule and contempt. The advertisements contained pictures obviously intended to represent his features. The features were placed on the body of a very tall man, dressed in a foppish manner, wearing a tall hat and white waistcoat, carrying a cane, and wearing an eyeglass, none of which it was his (Mr. Dunlop's) custom to wear. He complained that an impression had got abroad that he had given the company permission to publish the alleged caricature in consideration of payments made to him. He also stated that owing to his advanced age and to his delicate health it would be inconvenient and dangerous for him to attend a trial in England. For the defendants it was contended the figure complained of was not symbolic, and not photographic, and the defendants' secretary, Mr. Cunningham, in an affidavit, stated that in 1895 the Pneumatic Tyre Co., of which Mr. Dunlop was a director, registered as trade marks his head, bust, and signature of Mr. Dunlop in respect of goods made by them. The Dunlop Company was the successor of the Pneumatic Tyre Company with its patents and trade marks, and for the past four years the publication now complained of had been in widespread circulation in posters and advertisements. All the witnesses for the defendants, it was further stated, resided in London, and it would be oppressive and very expensive if the trial should take place in Ireland. In the result, the defendants' application to set aside the order giving plaintiff liberty to issue and serve a writ out of the jurisdiction was refused.

Mr. Justice Powell, in a considered judgment, said that the points dealt with in the arguments raised important questions affecting the jurisdiction of the Court of Chancery in Ireland. One of the principal contentions of Mr. Healy, for the defendants, was that this was really an action for libel, and that the Court of Chancery could not grant an injunction to restrain the publication of an alleged libel unless and until the publication complained of had been found by a jury to be a libel, and that, therefore, the Court had no jurisdiction to make the order appealed against. The publication of written matter, which includes any printed or any other permanent representation, or any picture, statue, or effigy, may be defamatory if it appreciably injures a man's reputation, and the injury may be presumed from the nature of the publication if it disparages the plaintiff or tends to bring him into ridicule or contempt. No general rule could be laid down; it depended to a great extent upon the question as to what class of man it was who complained, and the nature of the thing that he complained of. A gentleman, for example, who had adopted the stage for his profession, could not reasonably object that in an advertisement by way of poster of a theatrical performance in which he takes a part he is depicted in the garb proper to the part which he plays, whereas an ordinary citizen who does not aspire to histrionic fame might legitimately object to notoriety of such a kind, even although he were made to represent a personage of fame and distinction in history, because it would make him merely ridiculous. Again, if a man is a public character, in respect to whom it might be said that his public life or his great position was calculated to create an interest, it would be unreasonable to suppose that his portrayal in exaggerated form would tend to injure his reputation in the sense of making him an object of ridicule. Again, there are men who rejoice in the limelight, and who seek it on every available opportunity, and they could not complain if the light is sometimes turned on so as to put them in a position not altogether flattering. But the plaintiff in this case was not an actor nor a public character nor a man who sought notoriety. He was an ordinary citizen, and complained that it was offensive to him and calculated to bring him into ridicule and contempt that he should be so depicted. He (the judge) was not satisfied that it would not be more expensive for the plaintiff to attend in London with all his necessary witnesses than for the defendants' necessary witnesses to attend in Dublin. He was not of opinion that the action was vexatious or oppressive, or that, in fact, the action was not brought bona-fide in this country. The plaintiff alleged—and with some show of reason—that it was the publication of the matters complained of in this country, and not elsewhere, that formed the real grievance. The action was brought to restrain the publication of the matters complained of in the place where such publications are alleged to affect the plaintiff's reputation, and he (the judge) had pointed out, so far as he could see, the defendant company claimed the right to publish the matters complained of. What the plaintiff complained of was the extensive circulation in newspapers and magazines and by placards on the hoardings of Dublin. Mr. Healy argued that the injunction should be applied for in the place from which these publications were issued—namely, London—and that, if the injunction was granted in this country, the remedy would not be effective because the axe would not be laid to the root of the trouble, and that newspaper agents in this country may be put in peril by selling papers and magazines containing the matters complained of. The answer to the first of these contentions was that the plaintiff's real grievance was the publication in this country where he was known, and where his publications were intended to make him appear ridiculous in the eyes of his friends and acquaintances. It appeared to him (the judge) that, if were established in this country that these publications were defamatory of the plaintiff, it would be the duty of the defendants to see that they did not continue these publications in this country, because upon that assumption they would be repeating the publication of defamatory matter and disregarding the injunction. Supposing this action were tried in London and an injunction was granted, such injunction would only affect publication in England, and it would follow that there would be nothing to prevent the defendants from publishing the matters complained of in Ireland, which was the very thing that the plaintiff sought to prevent. But he thought that he ought not to assume that, because an injunction was granted in this country the defendants would continue to publish the matters complained of at all. Mr. Healy had laid great stress upon the amount of money that was being spent in producing the figures complained of by way of advertisement for their business, but, if these advertisements were decided by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be defamatory, surely the plaintiff could not be denied his rights to have the publication stopped because financial loss might result to the defendants. He (the judge) gathered from the correspondence disclosed on the motion that on a previous occasion the intervention of Mr. Harvey du Cros, upon a complaint of the plaintiff resulted in advertisements then published, or contemplated, and of which the plaintiff complained, being withdrawn. He did not base his decision in any way upon that fact, but he thought it indicated that the defendants would not continue the publication of matters that were held to be defamatory. Of course if, upon the trial, it were shown that the plaintiff acquiesced in the publication of these advertisements, and upon his acquiescence was responsible for the incurring of great expense by the defendants, it was quite possible that the plaintiff might be held to be disentitled to the relief sought, but that was a matter which he was not entitled to decide in favour of the defendants on the present occasion. The following were the conclusions at which he had arrived—He thought that the Court had jurisdiction to hear and determine the action. It would be impossible for him to decide now that the publications complained of were incapable of being held to be defamatory of the plaintiff. He thought that he ought not to hold that the intended defendants had established at this stage the defence of acquiescence, but that the plaintiff was no matter to be decided in the trial; and he thought that in the event of the plaintiff succeeding in this action he could enforce the remedy within the jurisdiction. He thought that it had not been established that the action was vexatious or oppressive, and he thought that, taking into account the rights of the plaintiff as well as the rights of the defendants, the balance of convenience had not been shown to be in favour of the trial of the action had in England. Therefore, he must decline to discharge the order of January 16th, or to set aside the writ and the service of the writ and the subsequent proceedings. The defendants' motion was dismissed with costs.

His lordship extended the time for appeal to the first day of next sittings.

Counsel for the plaintiff—Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., Mr. J. H. Whitaker, K.C. and Mr. A. J. Keogh (instructed by Mr. F. G. Sharpe). For the defendant company—Mr. Healy, M.P., H. Kennedy, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Nelson, Son and Dawson).

AN "UPSIDE DOWN" PROMISSORY NOTE

—In the Bankruptcy Court, before Mr. Justice Ross, William Brabazon, of North Great George's street, was examined as to his affairs by Mr. Henry (instructed by Messrs. Webb and Webb), who appeared for the assignees in bankruptcy. The bankrupt spoke of his dealings in the matter of grazing lands with Richard Osborne of Tullykane, Kilmessan Co. County Meath. He had lent money to Osborne from time to time, and Osborne now owed him £102. Richard Osborne was examined, and he swore that he had never borrowed any money from Brabazon, who, in fact, owed him £75 for last year's letting of the land. Counsel produced and handed to Osborne a promissory note dated June 10th, 1918, signed by him, promising to pay Brabazon £102 three months after date. The witness (Osborne) said that the signature was his, but he had never received the money, nor had he asked for it. His explanation was that Brabazon came to his house one evening and got him to sign the note in the dark, Brabazon covering the body of it with his hand. He had not read the note, because of the darkness. He did not know that he was signing a document for £102. The witness also denied that he had received two other small sums from Brabazon, although he admitted his signature to the receipts. Counsel asked the judge to make an order for the payment by Mr. Brabazon of the amount of the promissory note. Mr. Justice Ross said that what he felt inclined to do was to send the papers in the case to the Attorney-General and have the man prosecuted for perjury. Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Mr. Steen), who appeared for Osborne, directed the attention of the judge to the condition of the note, which, he said, was "upside down," which the signature of the drawer was placed. Mr. Justice Ross said he thought he could do nothing for the present. The matter was adjourned.

EARLY CLOSING OF SHOPS.

Mr. Briant, in the House of Commons yesterday, moved the second reading of the Shops (Early Closing) Bill, which seeks to amend the Shops Act, 1912, and to substitute therefor provisions requiring the closing of all shops at a fixed hour, on the lines of the system which has been found to work satisfactorily during the war. The hour proposed as the closing hour, he explained, is eight o'clock on Saturday, and seven o'clock on other week-days, except for tobacconists and confectioners, for whom the closing hours will remain at nine and eight o'clock.

Mr. Shortt (Home Secretary) said that the Government were entirely in favour of the principle of the bill, and without pledging themselves to details, would be prepared to accept the consent of the House, would give the bill a second reading.

The bill was read a second time without a division.

SALE OF GREYHOUNDS.

There was a fine attendance yesterday at Prussia street, when Mr. M. F. Cronin held his spring sale of greyhounds. Good prices were realised all round. Mr. Cronin's Chearful Chirp, a first season bd. d. (Big Bug—Cheerful Chic), making top price, being knocked down to Mr. D. J. Garry at 100 guineas. Mr. Galvin's Irish Cheer, winner of the Kingstown Purse, was secured by Mr. J. Griffin, Skerries, for 56 gns., and Mr. F. Flynn, Killucan, got 55 gns. for Flying Sunset. Over 40 lots were sold of competition for Mr. J. Langan's Line of Battle, a splendid puppy by Victorious Ally—Lann Leri, for which bid, but it was withdrawn, not having reached the reserve. MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Friday.—There is nothing particularly fresh or has to feature the local grain trade. The holidays and races during the week somewhat interfered with the agrees routine of operations previously noted, and most inquiries are for seed purposes. Black oats continue weak around 29/- to 29/6 in bulk ex mills, miller sparely offered, and figure from, say, 31/- to 34/- per barrel. Irish white is being sold for 50/- to 52/- and 54/- per barrel; and suitable seed barley there is nothing really to quote.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Friday.—WHEAT—Allocations included a cargo Australian, per Leta, about 7,000 tons at 96/-; and 2,000 Plate, per Balmoral Castle, afloat to Cork at 96/-, and a part cargo Argentine, per Brighton, aflo APPEALS.

WE venture to bring under the notice of a generous public the sad plight of the people of the Island of Innisturk. This is a small island off the Mayo coast, about nine miles from the entrance to the Mulary Harbour. The islanders earn a scanty and precarious living by fishing. Recently a great misfortune happened to them.
On their return from Clifden in their little boats with some provisions and other necessaries some of the fishermen were caught by one of the many storms early this year, and were driven by the wind to one of the rocky islets on the Connemara coast. Fortunately, their lives were saved, with much difficulty and danger to all concerned, but their boats were broken on the rocks and the cargoes lost.
The loss to a few families would be about £500 As these people depend on their boats for a living, and as there is now nothing before them but destitution, we appeal with confidence for their relief to the charity of the public.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received and acknowledged by:
Rev. HUGH CURLEY, Adm., Clare Island, Westport.
Mr. P. M. O'MALLEY, Clare Island, Westport.
Mr. P. J. PRENDERGAST, Innisturk, Connemara.

PUBLIC NOTICES.

THE GUILD OF INSURANCE OFFICIALS.
(IRISH, also between one and two cubic feet, suitable for displacers for concrete. About two thousand tons will be required, and the stone is to be delivered, as directed, on the Clontarf Coast road, between the Clontarf Town Hall and the Great Northern Railway Bridge, but Tenders for lots smaller than two thousand tons will also be considered. Inspection of samples of the stone arranged, when possible, and no stone will be accepted which is not approved of by the City Engineer or his authorised Assistant.
Tenderers must state when they can start delivering, and the minimum rate in tons per week at which they can confine at supplies. Further particulars can be obtained at the City Engineer's Office, Castle street.
The Tenderer must bind himself to enter into a Contract and Bond with the Corporation embodying the usual conditions, and must submit the names of two solvent persons to be bound with himself in a sum equivalent to 50 per cent. of the Contract sum.
Tenders, sealed and endorsed "Tender for Rubble Stone," should be addressed to "The Chairman, Corporation Cleansing Committee, Lord Edward street, Dublin," and should be forwarded so as to reach the Offices of the Committee not later than 12 o'clock mid-day on TUESDAY, the 30th MARCH.
The Committee do not bind themselves to accept the lowest or any Tender.

NEW CHURCH
TO
OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

SPECIAL COAL FUND
(NORTH SIDE OF DUBLIN).
None who enjoy the comforts of the domestic hearth at this trying season can doubt the boon which a small supply of Coal affords those who are destitute of this comfort in the lanes and alleys of our city; and, if that be so, few will doubt the pressing obligation which devolves on each, as the Lord hath prospered them, to co-operate in this effort.
The operations of this Fund will be carried out on the same principles, and through the like agency, as has been so effectively done for 63 years at the North Side of Dublin—viz., the aid to be given without religious distinction, and dispensed by means of parochial clergy when practicable.

SUNRISE A

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

There was a certain amount of comment in the Lobby to-day over the fact that, though some of the newspapers this morning reported Mr. Clement Edwards as having given notice of a series of startling questions for Monday in reference to Irish affairs, no such notice appeared on the House of Commons paper. Mr. Edwards proposed to inquire whether the Government had heard anything of preparations for simultaneous risings on Easter Monday with German connivance and assistance in Ireland, Liverpool, Glasgow, and Manchester. The authorities of the House, however, declined, I understand, to accept the hon. gentleman's notice. Rumours in like direction have been heard on the approach of the anniversary every year since the insurrection of Easter Monday, 1916. I learn on making special inquiry that the representatives of the Irish Government had not up to this evening received any information which would appear to support Mr. Edwards's inquiries.

It was quite within the fitness of things that the Commons to-day, after a sitting lasting over fifteen hours, should be engaged in discussing an Early Closing Bill. Members were, however, not so much concerned about themselves as shopkeepers and assistants who, it was said, deserved more time for rest and recreation. Mr. Bryant proposed that the war-time early closing measure should be continued to make a further curtailment of hours of labour. If the Bill passes shopkeepers for the future will have to close their premises at seven o'clock on every day of the week, except Saturday, when the hour will be eight o'clock. Sir Philip Magnus opposed the Bill as an unnecessary interference with the liberty of the subject, but the Home Secretary was willing that the measure should be read a second time, reserving liberty to himself to move amendments in Committee.

Mr. Thompson Donald was glad to know that the Bill applied to Ireland, if only for the circumstance that as things were at present a grocer with a licence on one side of the street could keep open for the sale of liquor, whilst another person on the other side of the street who was without a licence had to close. The Bill was read a second time.

Sir F. Banbury made another attempt to persuade the House to accept his Dogs Protection Bill. This measure has on three previous occasions been read a second time, but Sir Frederick still has hope that what he termed the "frivolous objection of the scientists" might be overcome. The Bill was, however, talked out.

Mr. Bonar Law's speech to-day, when read in conjunction with the Prime Minister's address to the Liberal members, shows that the idea of an organic union of the two parties composing the Coalition, if it was ever seriously entertained, is now definitely postponed. All that exists is a working arrangement, and from internal evidence I should say that it will not last very much longer.

The Prime Minister's speech does not read to me like that of a man who is very sure of himself or his position. I am always a little suspicious of a political leader who protests that personally he would welcome a rest, and that it is only for the sake of the country that he continues his arduous task. Nor does his attack upon Labour ring altogether true. It is not accurate to say that all Labour men are Socialists, and that all Socialists are Bolshevists. Mr. Lloyd George did not exactly say that, but he certainly conveyed that impression. Besides, if Socialism is as imminent a danger as he fears, surely it ought to be fought tooth and nail, and the whole strength of the Government ought to be devoted to safeguarding the rights of individuals and encouraging their initiative: whereas we see that the whole course of the Government administration and legislation has been in the other direction, that public control of private property is still rampant, that personal liberty is still subject to many constraints, and that the resources of the State are still largely expended upon subsidies.

These things may be right or wrong, but it does not seem altogether becoming for the head of the Government responsible for them to gird so furiously at Socialism. Appetite comes from eating, and, if a large number of the voters are hungering to-day for the full menu of Socialism, it may be, at any rate, partially attributed to the tasty hors d'oeuvres that have been so freely set before them in the ten years since Mr. Lloyd George brought in his first Budget.

The Unionist leader does not appear to have said anything in his speech at Worthing regarding the Irish situation. It is certainly not a subject on which he can reflect with any satisfaction. The Government of Ireland Bill is, I believe, an honest attempt to solve an almost impossible problem, but it cannot be said that it gains friends as it goes along. Mr. Law's refusal at the request of the Unionist Reconstruction Committee that he should summon a party meeting to consider the Bill does not look as if he had much confidence in the result of such a meeting.

At present the second reading has been fixed for March 29th. It would not have very greatly surprised me if the exigencies of the Parliamentary situation had caused the Government to change their minds and postpone this stage of the Bill until after Easter. But Mr. Asquith's curious, and, as it seems to me, tactically injudicious, decision to move the rejection will probably confirm them in their original purpose, since a postponement would look like the refusal of a challenge.

Lieutenant-Colonel Walter Guinness has placed the following motion on the Order Paper of the House of Commons with regard to the Government of Ireland Bill: "That this House cannot assent to the second reading of a Bill which would divide the Irish nation in a manner repugnant to the great majority of the Irish people, which would foster and accentuate animosities between sections of the Irish people, and which would not lead to a settlement of the Irish problem."

Major O'Neill will ask the Prime Minister on Monday whether he can now say if the White Paper explanatory of the finances of the Government of Ireland Bill will contain figures showing the estimated true revenue and local expenditure of Northern and Southern Ireland respectively.

Germany is likely to have fallen out of the frying pan into the fire, according to the news coming from Berlin, for it seems that, after escaping the dangers of militarism, she is now seriously threatened with Bolshevism. If, as is reported, Herr Noske intends to resign in favour of a strong man who will ensure the restoration of order, he is doing the best thing for his country. Unless the Bolshevist danger is arrested at once the outlook is ominous.

The Allies have no desire to interfere with Germany's internal arrangements, unless compelled. But I imagine that they would have something to say if the report that Count Bernstorff has been selected as Foreign Minister in the reconstructed Government should prove authentic. They could hardly permit their representatives in Berlin to enter into friendly relations with the man whose machinations in the United States during the early part of the war were a disgrace to diplomacy.

"CURFEW" ARRESTS.

Ten persons were arrested under the "Curfew" Order this morning, and were taken to College Police Station, Brunswick street, Dublin.

The President of the London Divorce Division will on Monday hear a petition for restitution of conjugal rights by the Duchess of Marlborough against the Duke of Marlborough.

The New French Loan will be closed to-day. There seems to be no doubt that it has been a success.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

EMIR FEISUL'S POSITION.

The Times Cairo Correspondent telegraphs:—Emir Feisul's coup was by no means unexpected. The news from Syria had for some time showed increasing restiveness on the part of the Syrian Arabs, and indicated that pressure was being brought to bear on Emir Feisul to declare himself, which he would be unable to withstand, since, if he did not comply with the demands of his followers, the position would possibly go to the Sheik Mahmud, of the powerful Fadl tribe. Those qualified to judge are of opinion that Emir Feisul, who has acted throughout in the most straightforward way, has had his hand forced in this matter, and that he accepted the present alternative as being the one which would enable him the more effectively to exercise a moderating influence upon and, to a certain extent, control the subsequent activities of the people.

THE SOUTHERN UNIONISTS.

The Times in a leading article to-day says:—The Government would be well advised to devote the period immediately preceding the second reading of the Home Rule Bill to a thorough sifting and reconsideration of their Irish proposals. The cleverly-woven net of compromise which they have cast has failed to encircle either the Independent Liberals or Labour, and it is now doubtful whether it contains the extreme right of conversatism. It is already apparent that one point at least in the present proposals is likely to prove the pivot of an attack in which reactionaries may combine with men of broader view and better will. That point is the representation of minorities in the Southern Irish Parliament. Southern Unionism, reinforced for the moment by the disinherited Covenanters of three Ulster counties, claims some 400,000 adherents, and, though it is questionable whether anything like this number would, in existing circumstances, openly profess Unionist opinions, there is little doubt that the scanty representation obtainable under the bill is entirely inadequate to their numerical strength.

The full representation of the Unionist minority in the Southern Parliament is, in our belief, proceeds The Times, a wiser objective than would be an attempt to superimpose upon a system already complex the further embarrassment of Second Chambers, whose function any joint body representative of the whole of Ireland must in large measure necessarily discharge. Important though the influence of Southern Unionists may be to the stability of an Irish Legislature, their numbers are too small to permit of their being justly given a direct ascendancy by means of a Senate. No Southern Senate in which Unionists had a dominant voice could hope in the present circumstances of Ireland effectively to withstand the will of the Irish majority, save at the cost of fierce dissension, if not of revolt. Consequently, we have maintained throughout this controversy that the best hope of securing to Southern Unionism its full potential influence lies in the establishment of a joint Assembly of Northern and Southern Irishmen, in which the consideration of Unionists for Nationalists, and vice versa, would be the price of a United Ireland.

We believe that the public should hear, adds The Times, as it has not yet heard, from the Southern Unionists their own proposals for bringing the present bill into closer accord with their desires. It should learn also the views of Nationalists and of Sinn Feiners, as they will give them, upon this issue which is directly relevant to any discussion of Irish self-government. If the proposals thus made and considered are, indeed, consistent with the principles which, in our opinion, are essential to a just settlement, we shall not hesitate to urge upon Parliament and the country the importance of satisfying a claim which few in Ireland, or in Great Britain, will be able conscientiously to deny.

TURKEY AND THE AZERBAIJAN REPUBLIC.

In an editorial article to-day The Times deals with a remarkable Military Convention (particulars of which are published in its news columns), and which it describes as amounting in effect to an offensive and defensive alliance which was concluded last October at Constantinople between the Trans-Caucasian Republic of Azerbaijan and military representatives of the Turkish Government. The issue presented is one of considerable gravity, because the British Government recognised the Republic on January 15, when they were presumably unaware that the Azerbaijan Government had entered into formal relations with an enemy Power. The plain object of the instrument is, declares The Times, to secure for Turkey the use of the Azerbaijan forces if she so desires. The document is admittedly crudely drawn, and it bears the signature of Jevad Pasha, then chief of the Ottoman General Staff. Though it is apparently not signed by any Turkish Minister, it must have been made with the cognisance and the approval of the Turkish Government, as well as of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the leader of the Turkish Nationalist forces in Asia Minor. The latter probably arranged its terms. It remains to add, however, says The Times, that the Convention, of the authenticity of which there can be no doubt, was concluded three months or more before the Republic was recognised by Great Britain. A delegation from the Azerbaijan Government is now in London for the Peace Conference. We suggest that the only course now open to Great Britain is to inquire whether the Azerbaijan Government admit the existence of the Convention, whether, if so, they are prepared to denounce it, and whether, in any case, they will undertake to cease harbouring Enver or his criminal associates.

IRISH RESERVATION TO THE PEACE TREATY.

The Times Correspondent at New York, telegraphing under yesterday's date, says—The Senate is now dominated completely by political motives connected with the coming Presidential campaign. This was dramatically illustrated last night when, after an acrimonious debate, it adopted a 15th Reservation to the Peace Treaty, expressing sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people, and that Ireland would be admitted as a member of the League of Nations. The new reservation was suddenly sprung upon the Senate in the course of the afternoon by Senator Gerry (Democrat), Rhode Island. It reads as follows:—"In consenting to the ratification of the Treaty with Germany, the United States adheres to the principle of self-determination, and to the resolution of sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for the government of their own choice, adopted by the Senate on June 6, 1919, and declares that when self-government is attained by Ireland—a consummation which it is hoped is at hand—it should promptly be admitted as a member of the League of Nations."

LOWER COAL PRICES FOR OCEAN STEAMERS.

The Times understands that an agreement has now been made on behalf of the South Wales collieries to supply bunker coals for shipping at substantially lower prices than those at present ruling. As compared with the present quotation of 120s. a ton for large coal in South Wales, the new price is, it is understood, to be 80s. a ton. For small coal a price of 60s. a ton is to be charged, as compared with the current quotations of from 90s. to 110s. a ton. The present maximum in the Port of London is 155s. a ton, and this price may be expected to be reduced proportionately with the reductions in South Wales.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

The tone of the Stock Markets generally was better yesterday, says The Times, chiefly as the result of an appreciable rally in the War Loan, Victory and Funding Loans, the buying of which was on a fairly substantial scale. Foreign Bonds were less depressed, and the Foreign Railway market made a good recovery. As usual on a Friday, business was quiet all round the "House," and in some of the more speculative markets there was a certain amount of week-end profit-taking. Insurance securities again showed heaviness.

FEWER AMERICANS SETTLING IN CANADA.

Reuter's Ottawa telegram of March 5 says:—Immigration in to Canada from the United States fell off 43 per cent. during the last fiscal year, according to a report of the Canadian Department of Immigration just issued. In the year 1918-1919 40,715 Americans settled in Canada, against 71,514 in the preceding year. For the year just closed figures show 9,914 settlers came from the United Kingdom and 7,073 from other European countries.

UNITED STATES BUILDING BIGGEST AIRSHIP.

Reuter's Philadelphia telegram of March 13 says:—The world's largest dirigible is to be built at the Philadelphia navy yard. Naval men will attempt a hight in it across the Pacific. Fifty-two draftsmen gave their services to the work of designing the great airship. Work will soon be begun on the plans. It will be developed along the lines similar to the R 34, which made the successful Transatlantic flight. The dirigible will weigh about 35 tons, and will have a carrying capacity of 50 tons.

THE GERMAN CRISIS.

UNEASINESS IN BERLIN.

FEAR OF COMMUNISM.

FIGHTING IN SEVERAL TOWNS.

HEAVY CASUALTIES AT LEIPZIG.

Writing on Friday, the Press Association's Correspondent says:—There is a great feeling of uneasiness in Berlin to-day, which is added to by the non-appearance of newspapers, and by the fact that the whole city is thus left a prey to rumours of the wildest kind. Everyone is asking his neighbour what will happen next. The popular idea is that the Communist element will shortly be in control, but it is impossible to say on what this belief is founded. The main factors in the situation are the Right Socialists, the Independents, and the Federation of Labour. The Independents demand the practical recognition of their platform. The Labour Federation makes the retirement of Herr Noske, the Minister of Defence; Herr Keine, the Minister of the Interior, and Herr Coser, Minister of Railways, and the refusal to grant an amnesty to Dr. Kapp and his partisans, a condition of the "calling off" of the strike. The Right Socialists are divided, and there is said to be a movement towards the Left amongst a large number of them. Meanwhile, the general strike situation continues unchanged. The postal services, the railways, and the trams are at a standstill, and the telegraph and telephone employés may strike at any moment. Leaflets are being circulated urging the workers to continue the strike until their demands are granted. Those demands are, in general, the removal of the military and the granting to the workers of a decisive voice in the new Governments.

A Berlin message, dated Thursday, says—In a proclamation to the Army, General von Seeckt, in the name of the Defence Minister, summons the Army, as before, to stand together against any attempt to establish Bolshevism, and to place the weal of the Fatherland before all other considerations.

A telegram from Berlin to Copenhagen, of Friday's date, states that a hundred persons were killed and over two hundred wounded in Thursday's collisions in various quarters of Berlin. Eye-witnesses of the occurrences on Thursday evening outside the Town Hall, in the suburb of Schoeneberg, say that about fifteen officers of the Baltic troops were killed, being literally trampled to death by the crowd.

Three officers were shot dead and another mortally wounded at one o'clock to-day at the Brandenburger Thor, by members of the Security Police, who were stationed at the Guard House there. Six civilians were wounded.

A Reuter Berlin message, dated Thursday, says—Yesterday evening regular troops received instructions to destroy barricades erected in South-east Berlin, and for this purpose they fired off a machine gun, which caused great losses among the rioters, 12 persons being killed and 28 wounded.

EMBASSY STAFF ALL WELL.

The Secretary for Foreign Affairs has received a telegram from Lord Kilmarnock stating that the Embassy Staff at Berlin are all well.

With reference to the report that a bomb had exploded outside the British Embassy in Berlin, wounding a number of people, Reuter's Agency is officially informed that Lord Kilmarnock in his telegram reports that as the Embassy Division was marching past the Embassy there was some promiscuous shooting, and the Chargé d'Affaires heard a bomb explode quite close to the Embassy. There is nothing to suggest an attack on the Embassy.

LUETTWITZ AND VON KAPP.

A Paris message says:—The reports that Luettwitz and von Kapp have committed suicide are unconfirmed.

LUDENDORFF REPORTED COMPROMISED.

The Copenhagen Politiken's Berlin Correspondent says that, with the Government's consent, the Republican Officers' League has armed three battalions of Socialist workmen. The Correspondent adds that Ludendorff is in the highest degree compromised in connection with the revolt, and that the Independent Social Democratic Party is split into Right and Left wings.

HAS HERR NOSKE RESIGNED?

A message from Hamburg says that, according to the Stuttgart Correspondent of the Fremdenblatt, Herr Noske, Defence Minister, has resigned. The resignation is also reported of the Prussian Minister of the Interior.

An unofficial message from Stuttgart, received at Copenhagen yesterday, says that it can be stated on good authority that the reports of the retirement of Herr Noske, Minister of Defence, are not in accordance with the facts.

A telegram from Hamburg, of Friday's date, says that, according to a message received by the Hamburger Nachrichten, the workmen have occupied Kiel, and the troops have withdrawn. The Frankfurt Correspondent of the same paper reports that the resignation of Herr Noske has been accepted.

FIGHTING IN LEIPZIG.

A Reuter Copenhagen telegram of Friday's date says:—According to a Leipzig telegram, fighting has recommenced between the workmen and the soldiers, and the military authorities have proclaimed the city in an reinforced state of siege. Fighting continued all day on Thursday. A military aeroplane dropped bombs in the Johannis Platz. Another aeroplane was shot down by the workmen. The losses in the fighting are reported to be extremely heavy. There is talk of hundreds of dead and wounded.

POSITION AT NUREMBERG.

A telegram from Munich, dated Friday, says:—The Premier, Herr von Kahr, speaking at the Landtag as to events in Nuremberg, said that revolutionary detachments of sailors, twelve or seventeen hundred strong, fired on a detachment of regulars from the houses, killing and wounding several Reichswehr men. A big crowd tried to storm the police station. Twenty-three were killed and fifty wounded. The troops and police were stated to be masters of the situation.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AND THE REVOLUTIONARIES.

A Reuter message, dated Copenhagen Friday, says:—In yesterday's debate in the National Assembly at Stuttgart, Herr Shadruann demanded the dismissal of all unfaithful officers, officials, and troops, and the confiscation of the entire property of the insurgents.

Herr Burlage, Centre Party opposed clemency towards Kapp and his associates.

Herr Payer, Democrat, asked that justice might take its course swiftly and ruthlessly.

REVOLUTIONARY LEADERS TO BE PROSECUTED.

Reuter's Copenhagen Correspondent on Thursday forwarded a Stuttgart message, which says that yesterday's Cabinet meeting the Imperial Government resolved to entrust the Supreme State Attorney with the prosecution of the leaders of the revolutionary movement. It has ordered their arrest.

AMERICA AND IRELAND.

LIVELY DEBATE IN THE SENATE.

TERMS OF "RESERVATION."

A Reuter's telegram from Washington received yesterday says:—Another hot dispute developed in the Senate on the Irish question when Senator Gerry (Democrat), Rhode Island, introduced a reservation to the Treaty reaffirming the sympathy of the United States with Irish aspirations for self-government.

Senator Lodge pointed out the hypocrisy of the United States declaring for self-determination after fighting four years' civil war to prevent the self-determination of the Southern States.

During the evening the Senate reaffirmed its previous votes on the two reservations—one to Article 10, and the other expressing sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people, although attempts at modification were made.

During the debate the Democrats supported the Irish reservation, the Republicans opposing it on the ground that it included a general declaration that the United States adhered to the principle of self-determination of peoples.

Senator Lodge expressed bitter disapproval of the reservation.

After a debate lasting all day the reservation was carried by the Committee of the Whole House, with a vote of 38 to 36.

This action was later confirmed by a vote of 45 to 38. Two efforts for amendment were lost by 51 to 30, and 70 to 11 respectively. Both these amendments were aimed at striking out the clause dealing with self-determination, and expressing America's hope for the consummation of Irish freedom.

During the debate a high pitch of bitterness was reached, and there were many charges of bad faith and political manipulation. The Republicans repeatedly tried to modify the declaration regarding self-determination. Senator Lodge declaring that such a policy had a touch of hypocrisy when the nation had fought to hold the Southern States to the Union.

Senator Sterling characterised the reservation as an underhand attack to defeat the Treaty.

The reservation regarding Irish freedom reads as follows:—"In consenting to the ratification of the Treaty with Germany, the United States adheres to the principle of self-determination, and to the resolution of sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people for a Government of their own choice, adopted by the Senate on June 6th, 1919; and declares that when such self-determination is attained in Ireland, a consummation which it is hoped is at hand, Ireland should promptly be admitted as a member of the League of Nations."

MR. DE VALERA SUGGESTS "TE DEUM."

Mr. de Valera, according to a Reuter's New York telegram, has cabled to Mr. Arthur Griffith, Dublin, that the action of the United States Senate in adopting the reservation on the Peace Treaty declaring for "self-determination" in Ireland, terminates his mission in America, and suggests that the "Te Deum" should be sung throughout Ireland.

MR. BONAR LAW AND COALITION FUSION.

THE COALITION'S RECORD.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION NECESSARY.

EXCITEMENT AND UNREST.

THE MOST DANGEROUS TIME PASSED.

THE GOVERNMENT AND ECONOMY.

After the Prime Minister's speech to the Coalition Liberals, unusual interest was centred in Mr. Bonar Law's speech to the Sussex Unionists, at Worthing yesterday. The meeting was a very large one, and it gave Mr. Bonar Law a very enthusiastic reception. Earl Winterton presided, and Sir George Younger was one of Mr. Law's platform supporters.

Mr. Bonar Law spoke at some length upon the future of the Coalition. He declared his belief that it was as necessary now as at any time during the war that they should work together, with no thought of party. When the war ended, were they of the Conservative Party to say to the Prime Minister: "We have worked very well together so far, but we think we will be better apart now, good-bye?" No one could take that line. What they did say was: "We have worked together during the war; let us go on working together in dealing with the problems the war has left, so long as we honestly can." During the eighteen months which had elapsed since the war there had been no question in the Cabinet on which the division had been on the old party lines. That really meant that the war had made a great change in the whole outlook of the nation. It had produced an entirely new set of conditions, and the reason why they worked together was that they were not dealing with the old party issues, but with new conditions, and facing them on their merits. (Cheers.) They were accused of opportunism. There were some things on which there could be no compromise, but political principle must not be confused with political prejudice, and nine times out of ten the man who talked about political principle was really giving utterance to his political prejudices. The only way in which to deal with the conditions of to-day was the way which they believed on the merits was best in the interests of the country. If opportunism meant that politicians were making mutual sacrifices of principle in order to retain office, that was dishonest, and no such Coalition would live for a year in this country. If there was any person who thought that, after the strain they had gone through, they were so eager to continue in office, that person was wrong.

THE QUESTION OF FUSION.

Dealing with the question of fusion, Mr. Law said:—I read with some surprise, because I did not know that the Prime Minister had agreed to form one party out of the two wings of the Coalition. In another paper I read—and this surprised me more—that Sir George Younger was engaged in a plot with the Prime Minister to depose me from the leadership of our party. I will tell you what has happened. The two parties are working as closely together, with as little evidence of party differences as at any time during the war. In the House of Commons we are working as an absolutely homogeneous party. But in the constituencies that is not so. In Parliament we are one party, but whenever a difference arises comes, the old party differences come up, with the inevitable result, that you do not get behind the Coalition in the election fights the forces which are really in favour of the Coalition. I believe that this Coalition should continue, unless both sides as well as in the House of Commons. The method has not been decided upon, but something must be done. The Labour Party has the most perfect protection that has ever existed in this country. It is not as good with us as before the war.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION NECESSARY.

We have got to try and get closer co-operation. He had discussed the matter over and over again with the Prime Minister, and he did not think that ever he understood the intricacies of party working in the constituencies as well as did many of the men who supported him. The duty of a party leader was to try to interpret the spirit of his party. They must take a further step. He did not know what was the best method. He did not suggest for a moment that it meant sinking the old party organisations on either side. The Prime Minister shared his belief that it was their duty, as party leaders, to suggest that some effort should be made for closer co-operation. It was the business of the leader to make such suggestions, and any step which he took—and he believed the same was true of the Prime Minister—would be taken in consultation with adequate representatives of the party.

THE PEOPLE'S CONFIDENCE.

They were told that every by-election showed that they were losing the confidence of the people. They must not believe it. There had never been in the history of this Parliament a time when there was such a solid majority in favour of one party in the House of Commons. There had been about 21 by-elections, and of these 12 had been won by the Coalition. I think we have the confidence of the people, said Mr. Bonar Law, and if there was an election to-morrow I think the people would say to us, "Continue your work." I am quite sincere in saying that we are not staying in these positions to gratify our ambitions, or fill our pockets. If the time comes when the people of the country no longer wish us there, we shall be very glad to give place to others.

THE GOVERNMENT'S RECORD.

Speaking in justification of the existing record of the Government, Mr. Bonar Law claimed that it had done nothing to forfeit the vote of confidence expressed at the general election. A week or two ago Marshal Foch said to him that of all the events of the war, the one which seemed to him the most marvellous was the way in which the British Army, after being shattered and broken in the great offensive of March, 1918, had, by August, so completely recovered that it was able to face the foe, and win a triumphant victory. That was no small task, and he claimed that in that critical hour the Government was not unworthy of the people it represented. Never had the problems of government been so difficult as in the eighteen months since the Armistice. Critics said that the Government was hap-hazard, and was swayed by every wind of doctrine. Of no Government in their time could that be said with less truth. He declared without hesitation that the Government had already, in the course of a single session, fulfilled more of their pledges than had any Parliament before in the whole life of that Parliament. He did not ask them to judge the Government upon the Housing Bill. Give them reasonable time, and if they did not produce the goods they would deserve to be condemned. He believed that by the end of the year there would be 100,000 houses completed throughout the United Kingdom. Mr. Bonar Law claimed that taking all the difficulties into account, the Peace Treaty was as good as it was possible for their delegates to make it. People were today veering in the other direction from the hostility felt towards our late enemies at the end of the war. They did not know what the condition of Germany was going to be. The Treaty could, in some respects, be modified to meet conditions, but no treaty could be just or reasonable which left France or Britain in a worse financial condition than the country which forced the war on them. Speaking of the unrest and nervous excitement throughout the country, Mr. Law said that, although the danger was not past, they had gone safely through the most dangerous time which, probably, the country would ever be called upon to face. Speaking of high prices and inflated currency, he said that until borrowing ceased there could be no return to reasonable conditions. They had stopped borrowing, and he declared with full knowledge that the Government had taken risks in avoiding expenditure, and that before many months had passed the same critics who were accusing them of extravagance, would be accusing them of cutting down their stupid forces below the necessities of the Empire. Upon the subject of "profiteering," he said that if the powers of the present Act were not sufficient, the Government meant to increase those powers to whatever extent was necessary to do what was reasonable.

COWARDLY CRIME IN CORK.

POLICEMAN MURDERED IN CITY STREETS.

HIS BODY RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

Telegraphing at an early hour this morning, our Cork Correspondent says:—

A shocking crime was perpetrated at 11 o'clock to-night in Cork, when Constable Murtagh, of Sunday's Well Station, was attacked by unknown men in the streets, and riddled with bullets. His death was instantaneous.

Constable Murtagh was a native of the County Galway, and had nearly 30 years' service in the Royal Irish Constabulary, the last twelve of which he spent in Cork. He had been a widower for some years, and his two children are living with relatives. The constable himself lived in Sunday's Well Barrack.

Last evening he got a few hours' leave, and dressing himself in civilian clothes went to Cork, and, it is believed, spent the evening at a theatre or picture house.

He left for the barrack about 11 o'clock, going by way of Pope's Quay, and had reached a point opposite St. Mary's Church, when a number of men opened fire on him with revolvers, and he fell with eight or nine bullets in his body. His wounds were principally in the abdomen, legs, and feet.

A large crowd of civilians soon collected at the spot, and some policemen who were going on duty were towards them, and found Constable Murtagh dead. With the help of the civilians the body was taken to the North Infirmary, which was only 100 yards away, where it was examined by Dr. Hearn and other members of the staff. A bullet was found in one of the boots of the dead man.

The murder has created a feeling of intense alarm in the district, where Constable Murtagh was held in much respect. The motive for the crime is unknown. Constable Murtagh never did any but ordinary police duties.

The police guards in the city were trebled to-night.

Constable Murtagh is the seventh policeman that has been killed in Ireland during the month of March.

THE NEWRY MAIL VAN.

DRIVER'S DESCRIPTION OF "HOLD-UP."

The Newry to Carlingford mail car is reported to have been attacked on Friday morning. The mail car leaves Newry at 7.25 a.m., and it is alleged to have been attacked in broad daylight at a curve in the road. The car when discovered was standing on the side of the road with the contents of the mail bags scattered about, but no trace of the driver could be seen, and it was not until one o'clock that he was found coming down from Fathom Wood by Constable Treacy. Questioned by the constable, Boyle stated that when going along towards Fathom he was suddenly fired at twice, and almost immediately he was confronted by four armed and masked men, who ordered him to dismount, "that they had got him now." They then (he states) escorted him across the railway line into Fathom Wood, where he was made drink what he described as "like" a glass of whiskey out of a bottle. His captors assured him that they would do him no harm. After drinking the "stuff" he became insensible, and remained so for upwards of five hours. His assailants must then, according to his version of the affair, have opened the mail bags, which, however, did not contain any registered packets or letters. It is not known whether any correspondence is missing.

On arrival in Newry Boyle was taken by the police before a doctor to verify his statement as regards what has ever existed in this country. It is not as good with us as before the war.

CLOSER CO-OPERATION NECESSARY.

We have got to try and get closer co-operation. He had discussed the matter over and over again with the Prime Minister, and he did not think that ever he understood the intricacies of party working in the constituencies as well as did many of the men who supported him. ARRESTS AT TOOMEVARA.

SIX MEN IN CUSTODY.

Our Nenagh Correspondent telegraphed last night:—Late this evening there was much activity by the police and military in the Toomevara district, and Michael and Andrew Harty, Jeremiah Troy, and Stephen, John, and William Hackett were placed under arrest, and removed by armed escort to an unknown destination.

MAGISTRATE'S HOUSE SEARCHED.

Early yesterday morning a number of soldiers searched the residence of Mr. George O'Grady, J.P., at Rochestown, near Cork and, finding some cartridges, lodged him in the county jail. Mr. O'Grady, who is an extensive farmer, is a Protestant, and has not been identified with politics.

DEFENCE OF THE REALM.

WORMWOOD SCRUBBS PRISONER'S APPLICATION.

ORDER FOR INTERNMENT HELD TO BE VALID.

In the King's Bench Division, London, yesterday, the Lord Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Bray and Mr. Justice Avory had before them a rule nisi and cause for habeas corpus, which was directed to the Governor of Wormwood Scrubbs Prison in respect of the youth, Patrick Foy, shop assistant, Dublin, who, it was stated last week, had been in the custody of the Governor since January last, after having been arrested and imprisoned without charge or trial. Foy lived in Capel street, Dublin, and was a shop assistant employed by the Army and Navy Stores, Dublin. His affidavit, which was read last week by Sir John Simon, K.C., who applied for the rule, stated that he had never taken part in a political controversy in Ireland, nor been a member of a proclaimed organisation. He had always been a civilian, and had never been under military law. He had no hostile origin or associations.

Sir John Simon said that the critical test was—Was the regulation on which the proclamation was made one for the safety and defence of the realm? If it was meant to deal with a disturbed state in Ireland, the preservation of internal order, the suppression of insurrection, and the putting down of illegal drilling, then, of course, his arguments would be bad. He contended that the Defence of the Realm Act did not authorise regulations, for the purpose of preserving internal order. As such, they were justified only in so far as they were regulations for protecting the country from a foreign danger.

The Lord Chief Justice pointed out that for the purposes of Courts of Law the war in the larger sense still continued. The Regulations derived their validity because there was a war in existence.

THE CROWN CASE.

Sir Gordon Hewart, Attorney-General, who appeared for the Governor of the prison to show cause why the rule should not be made absolute, said that the point which was urged was that the proclamation of April, 1916, whatever force it might have had at that time, ceased to be effective when the conditions to which it referred—invasion or other special military emergency arising out of the present war—came to an end, and, therefore, that the internment order was ultra vires. The War Definition Act, 1918, gave the Executive a discretion to decide whether the Order in Council, which alone could determine the date of the termination of the war, shall be made after one or two, or not until all, of the treaties had been finally exchanged or deposited. In fact, the Order in Council terminating the war had not yet been made. Of course, when it was made, then, unless something else were done in the meantime, the Regulations under the Defence of the Realm Act would automatically cease to have effect. The Order terminating the war not having been made, the war, for the purposes of the Defence of the Realm Regulations, was not to be spoken of as the late war, but as the present war.

The Lord Chief Justice, in delivering the judgment of the Court, pointed out that for the purposes of the courts of law the war in a large sense still continued. The regulations derived their validity because there was a war in existence. That Court had a sacred duty to preserve the liberty of the subject, and it always inquired into the facts when an application was made which showed illegal arrest or detention, or the imposition of forcible restraint. But for the war it would be the duty of the Court to inquire into the facts, and decide upon them. A state of war still existed, however. There was a complete answer to this application. All this exceptional legislation and power to make regulations and issue the proclamation was dependent upon the contingency that it would come to an end when the war ceased. The rule must be discharged.

Mr. Justice Bray and Mr. Justice Avory agreed.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

SHOT DEAD THIS MORNING.

HIS HOME ENTERED BY ARMED MEN.

This morning at one o'clock the Lord Mayor of Cork (Alderman McCurtain) was shot dead, telegraphs our Cork correspondent.

About that hour eight or ten men with blackened faces and armed with revolvers knocked at the door of the Lord Mayor's house, Mrs. McCurtain, without dressing, came down from her bedroom and made certain inquiries. She then asked for time to dress.

The men said that they wished to see the Lord Mayor, and refused to give her time, and she opened the door.

When she had done so the men rushed into the hall. They forced Mrs. McCurtain into the shop, and then went to the second landing, on which is the Lord Mayor's bedroom. One of them knocked at the door, and asked the Lord Mayor to come out. The Lord Mayor replied that he would do so when he had dressed. He hastily put on his trousers, opened the door, and came on to the landing.

No sooner had he done so than one of the raiders pointed a revolver and shot him through the right breast. The Lord Mayor fell on the spot where he stood.

The men then decamped. When they had gone Mrs. McCurtain telephoned for priest and doctor. Both arrived immediately, but the Lord Mayor had already passed away.

Alderman McCurtain, who only recently assumed the office of Lord Mayor, was a leading Sinn Feiner.

AMERICAN SENATE REJECTS THE PEACE TREATY.

come aware of the robin, even though he continues to act as before, and the robin will not approach him. This mutual awareness of each other by two living organisms is not telepathic, but physical; but the physical process is extraordinarily obscure and involved. The whole subject is one upon which volumes could be, and, no doubt, will in due course, be written. I appear already to have written more than enough about it.

IF I WERE KING.

If I were an autocrat and had the power to prove my doctrines orthodox with official, but not the less apostolic, blows and knocks, I would allow no man or woman to own a flower unless it had some meaning personal to themselves. "I love flowers, but, of course, I don't know anything about them," is the formula commonly heard on the lips of a certain class of persons—the same class that when asked if it is fond of animals says, "I simply adore horses and dogs." That they know nothing about flowers is literally true, and when they say that they love flowers they mean an armful of stuffy carnations from a florist's shop which they snuffle at in a well-bred manner and thrust "into an imitation Satsuma vase—usually forgetting to put any water in—in the drawing-room. And presently Mrs. Destrier Blenkinsopp (one of the Connemara Blenkinsopps) will drop in and say, "My dear, how beautifully those carnations match the portières! I always think olive green and puce go so well together!"

In my rôle of tyrant I should utter a terrible edict whereby all persons pretending to admire mop-headed chrysanthemums and cyclamens with fringes to them would be sentenced to spend three months washing all the aspidistras in all the Dublin boarding houses. For such things are not flowers, but furniture, as I say devoid of any decorative value as most furniture is. My horticultural secret agents—they would go about disguised as bank managers, but would, of course, wear their gardening boots—would no longer go about looking for Oyster Seale and Turnip-fly or such absurd trifles, but would conduct a rigid house-to-house search for offenders against the canons of horticultural taste. Having discovered, say, Mrs. Brown Robinson basking in front of a bouquet of choice blooms they would demand of her acerbly, "By what right do you dare to possess those treasures?" Mrs. B. E. could, of course, make any number of answers that would satisfy her inquisitors. She might say, for example, that she had just picked such flowers on her honeymoon in the Highlands of Spain, or that they used to grow on the wall of her aunt's cottage in Surrey, or that she always felt that she had been a flower herself in a previous incarnation. Such explanations as the last would be received with suspicion, as would the suggestion that the flowers in question just too utterly went with Mrs. Brown Robinson's new tie-de-vin jumper. For as to the first, while there are many ladies with strongly vegetable qualities who might easily have occupied a previous existence as members of the squash family, tender, flower-like women with pansy eyes are seldom to be found outside of the novels of the late Mr. Garvice.

As to the second excuse, we know that the flowers that are truly decorative from the point of view of pictorial art can almost be counted on the fingers. Iris, daffodil, poppy, columbine (in some form), hollyhock, anemone, primula and kindred trees, wistaria, and one or two more—their name is anything but legion. One is talking, of course, of the flower itself, and its adaptability to decorative formulæ. Mrs. Brown Robinson's overmantel or her Copenhagen vase might justify, and even demand, the presence of Iris or pallida dalmatica or dogwood or anemone fulgens, but by no stretch of the imagination could her corsage be regarded as incomplete without them, however incomplete it might be in other respects. So her claims would be submitted to the closest scrutiny, and if the artistic effect claimed was not, in fact, apparent the offence would be of two-fold gravity—to nature and to Art. Of course, in the majority of cases Mrs. B. R. would have an obviously valid reason for being in possession of flowers, or she would break down under cross-examination, and confess that she only bought them because they were marked down from 3s. 6d. to 2½ a dozen. In this case a fine would be imposed, with the option of sixty days in the County Herbarium. Thus the gracious personality of our friends the flowers would be protected from the hands of the Philistines and the honourable condition that their beauty and modesty have earned them would be preserved intact.

HYGIENE.

When I observe the futile throes of Mrs. Downstairs (once a mother), and how the nervous woman scarcely knows one rule of hygiene from another, but thinks, when baby starts to yell, he should lie face downwards on his stomach; how every time the brat begins to voice in strident tones some new whim she hastily searches him for pins or clays another bottle to him, though it would seem beyond a question that baby can have indigestion. O, then I wonder how on earth the bouncing brood of little Downses survived the accident of birth . . . . She has no handmaid trained to scour, sterilise the baby's bottle, no time-piece indicates the hour for every feed—instead down his throttle; she does not wash the child with water nearly as often as she oughter. And garments that this books aver are absolutely requisite—he has no aseptic diaper, no Rubens shirt, no rubber nightie. A flannel clout of septic crimson is all he rubs his little limbs on. And when the measles or the hives assail that bunch of blithe bambinos she does not read "Advice to Wives," but hands them each a jolt of Eno's or spoons enough of soothing syrup to make a horse sit up and chirrup. And so it is with her cuisine; unbuttoned in domestic science, the woman does not care a bean for sanitation's right appliance, but cooks, as I've observed, what grub in skillets that badly need a scrubbin'. She does not chase the flies away. Her garbage can's a thing of loathing, wherein the Downses junior play, wrapped in a swimsuin of clothing. They roam the streets all kinds of weather, and their young hides are tough as leather! Of course, they ought to die like flies on Hygiene's undisputed showing. It fills me full of pained surprise each time I hear the baby crowing and see the other little blossoms skipping around as fat as Punch. They are a bunch of lively lads, and, as for their untutored mother, she says—"Id have no time for that reading this Dr. Book or another or learnin' stuff (Now, whisht; ye divvle), the like of which is mostly dhrivvle."

DOGS (PROTECTION) BILL.

VIVISECTION AND SCIENCE.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Sir Frederick Banbury moved the second reading of the Dogs (Protection) Bill, which seeks to prohibit the vivisection of dogs. The measure, he said, was identical with one which had passed its second reading on three previous occasions.

Sir Watson Cheyne moved the rejection of the bill, as imposing an unnecessary and most serious obstacle to medical research. The bill, he said, was a matter of sentiment. Only a small proportion of experiments was performed on dogs.

Captain Loseby seconded the motion for rejection. He said that he had been experimented on and vivisected. He was gassed in France, and had blood taken from him in order that the doctors might find out what was the gas that had entered his blood. He thought that it was a great honour.

Sir Frederick Banbury remarked that the bill was meant to prevent the vivisection of dogs, not of human beings.

Captain Loseby added that he was quite unable to believe that men of science were the barbarians they were sometimes represented to be.

Sir J. Butcher supported the bill, asserting that it was not proved that experiments on dogs were necessary for the purposes of physiological research. He argued that under the present law it was possible for painful experiments to be performed.

Colonel Moore Brabazon said that he was entirely in favour of vivisection, but he was also in favour of this bill.

Captain Elliott said that this was merely a pettifogging bill, to obstruct, as far as possible, the progress of medical science. Dog fanciers who docked dogs' tails or cropped their ears, were never convicted by Justices. The heart of a dog was indispensable for certain scientific investigations into heart disease in human beings. During the last twelve months information had been gained. The House would take a grave responsibility if it stopped this form of research, and doctors, by means of experiments, had gone a long way to discover the cause of heart disease and the cure for it. British scientists should be aided, and not hindered. Experiments on dogs were also useful for the purpose of finding a cure for rickets in children.

The debate was adjourned.

LABOUR VIEWS ON MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH.

MR. HENDERSON ACCEPTS CHALLENGE.

Mr. W. Adamson, M.P., the Chairman of the Parliamentary Labour Party, yesterday made the following statement to a Press Association representative:—The Prime Minister's address to the Liberal members of the Coalition appears to me so be preaching the doctrine of class war. It is not the first time that he has indulged in this sort of thing. It is exactly what he used to say in the old Limehouse days, though his Limehousing now is of a different kind, and I do not think that by such talk he is serving either the interests of his party or of the country. Probably, however, Mr. Lloyd George was not so much concerned in attacking the Labour Party as he was in emphasising on the Coalition Liberals the stern necessity of their fusion with the Tories.

Mr. Arthur Henderson also saw in the Prime Minister's speech an appeal to class prejudice. Mr. Lloyd George, remarked Mr. Henderson, had chosen to fight Labour, which he found he could not control. His speech played upon the unreasonable fears of propertied interests. He spoke of national unity through the Coalition, but his appeal was destructive of that unity, and an encouragement to class war in its worst forms. Labour accepted his challenge. Steps were being taken to appeal for the two million shilling fund to enable them to fight the Coalition at the coming General Election.

COULD LIBERALS GOVERN?

MR. ASQUITH REPLIES TO MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Mr. Asquith, answering a correspondent as to Mr. Lloyd George's speech in support of the maintenance of the Coalition, says:—The Coalition was for war emergency only, and all parties should now revert to complete freedom of political activity. The trick election of 1918 was rushed when the ink on the armistice was barely dry, in order to perpetuate a conglomerate Coalition policy. The Liberal Party was perfectly capable of governing, and he was prepared to associate with wholehearted Liberals.

LORD HUGH CECIL AND HOME RULE.

Lord Hugh Cecil, M.P., speaking in London last night, said that it was curious that the arguments against Home Rule had never been so strong as they were to-day, and that practical resistance to Home Rule had never been so weak.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.

CHOIR FESTIVAL SERVICE.

The principal Service in connection with the St. Patrick's Cathedral anniversary celebrations yesterday was the parochial choir festival in the evening. The Service was a most impressive one, and all the available accommodation was occupied. The Service began at 8 o'clock, and the following choirs took part:—St. Patrick's, Female Orphan House, Chapelizod, Drumcondra and North Strand, Zion, Rathfarnham, Harold's Cross, St. Catherine's, St. Victor's, St. Kevin's, St. Matthias', Rathmines, Christ Church, Leeson Park; Booterstown, St. Columba's, Ranelagh; St. George's, St. John's, Monkstown; Dundrum, Howth, St. Matthew's, Irishtown; St. Michan's, St. Werburgh's, St. Mark's, St. Mary's, Donnybrook; All Saints', Raheny; St. Mary's, St. Thomas's, Clontarf; St. Barnabas', Molyneux, Santry and Glasnevin.

The processional hymn was "Ye holy angels bright," during which the clergy and choir took their allotted places. The following surpliced choirs formed the procession:—All Saints', Blackrock, St. Stephen's, St. Ann's, St. Peter's, and the boys of the Cathedral choir.

The Service began with the Lord's Prayer, the opening part being conducted by the Rev. E. E. Hughes and Rev. E. H. F. Campbell (Succentor). The Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were sung to Brewer in B flat, and afterwards the anthem. "I will lift up mine eyes" (Whitfield), was rendered with great effect. The lessons were read by Rev. H. C. Cave, M.A., Rector, North Strand, and Rev. W. Monk Gibbon, Rector, Dundrum. The hymn before the sermon was "Through all the changing scenes of life."

The preacher was the Archbishop of Dublin, who, speaking from the 5th chapter of Revelation of St. John, part of the 19th verse, expressed full pleasure at joining that night in the glorious Service of Praise. Worship, he said, more than praise; it was the united action of souls to Almighty God. It was a uniting of hearts in faith and emotion, and so it was there that night. As they joined in the united offering, they were able to realise something of the glorious splendour of the worship of Almighty God.

The hymn during the Collection was "Praise to the Holiest in the Highest," and following this came the anthem, "Hallelujah" (Handel), which was rendered with great effectiveness. This, with the exception of the sanctus of the Service, was beautifully interpreted, and every credit is due to the conductor, Rev. Canon D. F. R. Wilson, M.A., whose control of the choir and orchestra was admirable and in keeping with the reputation that he holds in the musical world.

The Service concluded with the hymn, "Thy hand, O God, has guided."

CONCLUDING CELEBRATIONS.

This afternoon at 3.15 there will be a Children's Festival Service. The choir will be composed of boys' voices, and the anthem, "See, the good Shepherd," will be sung. The children of all children's Services and Sunday schools in and around Dublin have been invited. Parishes which have sent in the number they intend to be present will have their seats reserved, but a general invitation is given to all children and their parents. Children's hymns will be sung, and the story of St. Patrick will be told by the Rev. E. H. F. Campbell, M.A., Succentor. Each child will be given a copy of the order of Service and the hymns. The children's offerings to the Cathedral Sustentation Fund will be presented in procession. The clergy are invited to bring their robes.

On Sunday the anniversary celebrations will conclude. Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 a.m. in the Lady Chapel. There will be Matins at 11.15. The anthem "Theu, O God, art praised" (Stewart) will be sung. The preacher will be the Rev. A. H. McNeile, D.D., Chancellor, and immediately following, at 12.30, there will be a Choral Celebration of Holy Communion. At the 3.15 Service the anthems will be—1st, "I will arise" (Wood), and 2nd, "I am well pleased" (Stevenson and Robinson). The preacher will be the Right Honourable and Most Reverend the Provost of Trinity College, D.D.

ST. WERBURGH'S CHURCH.

Special sermons will be preached to-morrow on behalf of the fund for the discharge of the debt on St. John's United Schools. The preacher in the morning will be the Most Rev. the Archbishop of Dublin, and in the evening the Rev. John Carson, B.D., Rector of St. Mark's.

THE MAGDALEN CHURCH.

To-morrow morning the Rev. R. H. Murray, Litt.D., will speak on the question—"Is the world growing worse?" His address will be in part an examination of Dr. Meyer's answer this week to this question.

ADELAIDE ROAD PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The Services on Sunday will be conducted by Rev. R. K. Hanna, B.A., at 11.30 a.m. and 6 o'clock. At the Evening Service the Church troops of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will parade. Mr. Hanna will preach on "Bearing the yoke in youth."

ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN METHODIST CHURCH.

The Morning Service to-morrow in St. Stephen's Green Methodist Church, Dublin, will be conducted by the Rev. W. A. Bracken. In the evening the Rev. R. M. I. Waugh, B.A., will preach, and the anthem "Jesu: Word of God Incarnate" (Gounod) will be sung. Strangers in the city are cordially invited.

IRISH ASSOCIATION OF ADVERTISING MEN.

ANNUAL MEETING IN BELFAST.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Irish Association of Advertising Men was held in Belfast yesterday, and the occasion was availed of by the Ulster members of the Council to extend to the delegates from various parts of the country a very cordial welcome to the Northern capital, and to afford them an opportunity of coming into close contact with a number of those great industries for which the city is world famous. The Association, of which Mr. S. G. Haughton (Administrator of the Irish Linen Society) is President, is considering the question of affiliating to the Advertising Clubs of the World, New York, and thus giving effect to the Council's recent proposal. The Southern delegates, who left Dublin yesterday morning, were met at the Belfast terminus by the President and Northern members of the Council, who conducted them to their hotels, and later entertained them to luncheon at Messrs. Thompson's restaurant.

INTERESTING ROUND OF VISITS.

Subsequently the company, which included Mr. W. S. Crawford (W. S. Crawford and Co., advertising agents and consultants, London), as guests of the President, evinced much interest in inspecting the many thriving concerns in the city.

In the evening the delegates were entertained to dinner in Thompson's Restaurant by the President, Mr. S. G. Haughton.

Mr. H. L. Garrett, President of the Belfast Chamber of Commerce, proposing "the trade and general prosperity of Ireland," said that the objects of the Association were admirable, and he believed it would achieve considerable success. They were not ashamed of the progress of Belfast during the past century, because very largely it was the result of their own efforts, and without any assistance of any kind from Governments. They did not care for Government doles. Possibly, other parts of Ireland would equally prosper if they set themselves to work in the same way. The prosperity of the whole United Kingdom was hampered by the present high taxation. The Government as a Government was spending too much money, and they must economise. Another matter which affected the prosperity of Ireland was the new bill, "for the better government of Ireland." He did not know anyone who wanted it. He was sure they did not want it in Belfast. He did not know that anyone wanted the particular plan they had put into it. We do not want partition, declared Mr. Garrett; we only want to be left alone. I think that is much the case with the rest of Ireland. We are in an awkward position, because we have to accept this plan if the alternative is the Home Rule Act of 1914. We do not like that Act, and must accept the new proposals. The proposals in the new bill were no catch whatever. It had been carefully thought out by a committee in Belfast inquiring into the finances of the bill. So far, they had nothing definite to go on except imagination, but so far as they had gone they had no doubt this bill was absolutely wrong financially for Ireland.

Mr. J. C. Eason, Dublin, in responding, deprecated the continuance of Government control of industries. The various industries should formulate their own policies, and request the Government to support them, and if they acted unitedly they would get support. With regard to advertising, manufacturers must take larger views, and let people know what they had to sell.

BELFAST FOOTBALL RIOT.

ALLEGED REVOLVER FIRING.

ACCUSED RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

George Goodman, the young man arrested at the Cliftonville football ground during the disturbance at the Irish Cup match between Glentoran and Belfast Celtic on Wednesday, appeared in the Belfast Police Court yesterday before Mr. James Roche, R.M. The charge against Goodman was that he wilfully attempted to murder Michael Lavelle and other persons, whose names are unknown.

Evidence was given by Constable Philip Markey, who identified the accused as the man who fired the revolver.

Constable John Dempsey said that he saw the prisoner firing a shot in the direction of the Glentoran supporters. Witness saw the revolver and smoke, and ran towards the prisoner, who moved back towards the Celtic supporters, and fired some more shots. Accused then dropped the revolver, and witness lifted it. He looked up to see where accused had gone, and he saw that the accused was captured by the police. There were six empty cartridge cases in it.

Replying to Mr. Graham, witness said he did not know accused was lame, and was certified that day for admission to the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Constable Henry Gordon said that when he was about six or eight yards from accused he turned round and said, "If you come another inch I will shoot you."

Sergeant Beckett said that at the time of his arrest accused was wearing the Irish Volunteers' badge. He also found in the possession of the prisoner a whistle and lanyard, a Sinn Fein collecting card, bearing his name and address, and also an Irish National Boy Scouts' card, with his name and address.

Accused was committed for trial to the Belfast Spring Assizes, which open on Monday next. Bail was refused.

AN ALADDIN'S CAVE AT LUCAN.

REMARKABLE CASE.

At the Dublin Criminal Sessions yesterday, before the Recorder and a jury, Patrick Behan, an employe of the Lucan Tramway Company, was charged with having received a kit bag, with contents, the property of Rev. Wm. J. O'Connor, S.J., Clongowes Wood College, knowing the property to have been stolen.

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., in opening the case for the prosecution, said that the prisoner and his wife lived in a one-room cottage at Ballydowd, near Lucan. For a considerable time past numerous complaints had been made by people travelling on the tramcars, especially between the Kingsbridge and O'Connell Bridge, that their suit cases, kit bags, and so forth had disappeared from the trams. Inquiries by Detective Officer Lynch and other officers led to their examining the contents of several pawn offices, and from the information thus obtained the police went out to Ballydowd on Saturday in January, and there made a strange discovery. The prisoner's small one-roomed cottage was found to be packed with stolen property, including suit cases and every variety of goods, with ladies' and gentlemen's clothing of all descriptions. The cottage was a veritable Aladdin's cave. (Laughter.) The defendant, when questioned by the police, said that his wife had bought all the property, and that he did not know the property had been stolen. The total value of the stolen property found in the cottage was about £450. There was a small clock on the cottage mantelpiece, which prisoner told the police he had bought at an auction room on the quays. The police had to get a motor lorry from the prisoner's cottage to the city. Out of the long catalogue of claims in the detective office the police found no less than twenty-six people claiming some of the contents of the cottage near Lucan. Claims for the property came from all over Ireland—Belfast, Cork, Limerick and the West, Wicklow and Wexford. All these people had been victimised by the operations of the prisoner's wife. Among the victims Dr. Bernard McMahon lost a suit case and a new suit, a stethescope, and other articles, to the value of over £25. The doctor's suit of clothes was found in the prisoner's cottage worn out. A Mrs. Hayes and her daughter, Miss Catherine Hayes, came to Dublin in January, 1919. Miss Hayes had a suit case containing about £50 worth of property, including a watch, some jewellery, and her clothes. All these were stolen from a tramcar on the way to O'Connell Bridge, and some of the stolen property was afterwards found in the prisoner's cottage. The prisoner's wife was arrested in the city, and the watch found on her was the property of Miss Hayes.

Evidence having been called in support of counsel's statement,

The prisoner, who was not professionally represented, made a statement to the effect that he had no one to look after his two little children. The things were concealed in the cottage by his wife, and he did not know that they were there.

The Recorder, addressing the jury, said that the case was a very remarkable one. The prisoner's wife had already pleaded guilty. Twelve suit cases were found in this one-roomed cottage. He had heard of a person receiving a number of similar articles as wedding presents, but he never heard before of twelve suit cases dropping into a one-roomed cottage, as well as over £400 worth of other property. (Laughter.)

The jury found the prisoner guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy, and he was put back for sentence.

DUBLIN LAUNDRY WORKERS.

The threatened strike of Dublin laundry workers has been postponed pending a conference, which has been arranged to take place on Monday next.

WAGES OF DUBLIN THEATRE EMPLOYES.

A conference was held yesterday between managers of the Dublin theatres and representatives of the employés, who claim an increase of wages. An amended offer was made on behalf of the employers, and this offer will be considered by the employés.

Sir Ross Smith has denied the report recently published to the effect that it was his intention to fly round the world.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE CHIEF SECRETARY AND SINN FEIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Since the Chief Secretary made the astonishing statement in Parliament assembled, that there were 200,000 Sein Feiners in Ireland, ready to commit murder night or day, I have eagerly searched the papers every morning for an indignant refutation of the statement by the clergy, as no one knows better than they, whether that statement, solemnly made, is true or not. Can it be possible that their silence gives consent? If so, it means the decline of the Church, whose fifth commandment says, "Thou shalt not kill."—Yours, etc.,

"CATHOLIC."

Dublin, March 19th, 1920.

THE "CURFEW" ORDER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I ask a little of your space to make public the following matter?

It appears that the employés of the Corporation, and the neighbouring Municipal Councils, who are required to work, or who may be required to work at night, have refused to work under permits since the recent Military Order came out.

It would be just as well for the ratepayers of this, and the neighbouring townships to understand what this means for them and their property.

If a fire breaks out in the night and the Fire Brigade are summoned, they may, or may not, come out; but the fact remains that they have no permits, and refuse to work under permits, and can refuse to turn out.

Or again, if a water pipe bursts during the night, and I go to the Town Hall for help, am I to be told "Our men will not go; they refuse to work under permits"? Or, if anyone is taken ill, and the ambulance is required, is the patient to lie till morning, and perhaps die in the night, because the employés of the Council refuse to work under permits? These men's wages come out of our pockets. Are our property and our lives to be placed at the sweet will of the Council's workmen?

I understand it is not a matter of obtaining permits. They have been applied for, but the men whom we have to pay refuse to work under them.

I believe this is a Trade Union matter. Now, I have no quarrel with Trade Unions. I have often sympathised with the men, and have used my influence to help them for their fight for a living wage; but our lives and property are precious to us, and I consider their action one of ingratitude.—Yours, etc.,

"A PEMBROKE RATEPAYER."

Dublin, March 19th, 1920.

THE CLERICAL DEFENCE UNION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—As a result of my letter in your issue of 11th inst., so many people have reached me that I beg you to permit me to say that the Clerical Defence Union was started in January, and is now being organised in six dioceses. Already we have to accept this plan if the alternative is the Home Rule Act of 1914. We do not like that Act, and must accept the new proposals. The proposals in the new bill were no catch whatever. It had been carefully thought out by a committee in Belfast inquiring into the finances of the bill. BATON CHARGES AT SKIBBEREEN.

The Press Association says:—A conflict occurred on Thursday night at Skibbereen between a number of young men who had attended the dance and the Constabulary. The police were stoned, and replied with a baton charge. Rioting again broke out later, and there were more baton charges. No arrests have been made.

ANOTHER POLICE BARRACK CLOSED.

The Royal Irish Constabulary Barrack, Middletown, County Armagh, having been closed, and the force distributed between Keady, Killylea, and Armagh Stations, a meeting of local residents was held on Wednesday evening for the purpose of appointing a Vigilance Committee to act in cases of disorder.

THE PALLASKENRY SHOOTINGS.

Sergeant John Portobello, R.I.C., and Constable Patrick Moran, who were fired at near Pallaskenry on Thursday while returning to their barrack at Kildimo, had a very fortunate escape from death. A party of from eight to fifteen men awaited the police in a shrubbery, and fired from behind a wall. The sergeant was shot in the arm and shoulder, and the constable in the face and arm. Another constable who arrived at the spot later was deprived of his revolver. The attack was made early in the afternoon, about half-past one o'clock, and the telegraph wires were found to have been cut between Pallaskenry and Kilcornan, on the main road to Foynes.

COURTMARTIAL IN CORK.

At a District Courtmartial held at Victoria Barracks, Cork, yesterday, James Coughlan, 24 Evergreen road, Cork, was charged that he, at 15 Charlotte quay, Cork, on the 15th February last, carried and kept in his possession a document detailing and describing the process and means for the doing of injury to a railway, and also a document describing the process and means for making an explosive substance.

Captain Gover, who prosecuted, said that the Sinn Fein rooms at Charlotte quay were raided by a party of police and military, and accused and others were found seated around a table. When asked what they were doing they said "This is an Irish class, and we are learning Irish." The men were searched, and on the accused the documents mentioned in the charge were found. The first witness should have been District Inspector McDonagh. He (Capt. Gover) regretted very much that he was unable to be present, as some days after the arrest of the accused and some of his companions he was shot in the city.

Evidence was taken, and the Court reserved judgment.

MILITARY SEARCH AT RAHENY.

Yesterday a party of military motored to Raheny, and searched a field there, but it is not stated whether they found the object of their search.

CORK ASSIZES.

JUDGES PROTECTED BY POLICE.

Lord Justice O'Connor and Mr. Justice Samuels reached Cork from Tralee at four o'clock yesterday evening, being received by Brigadier-General Harrison, Commanding Officer, and the City and County High Sheriffs, while a guard of honour, with the band from the Hampshire Regiment, was drawn up on the platform. Their lordships having inspected the guard entered closed carriages, and drove to their lodgings. There were forty police on duty outside the station, and the judges' carriages were followed by a motor containing a dozen police.

The principal figures for 1919 are published in another column. They show in the ordinary branch that the new policies issued numbered 138,037, assuring the huge sum of £22,319,642, and in the industrial branch the premiums received amounted to £11,155,874, an increase of £1,419,471 over 1918. The total number of policies now in force in the industrial branch is 23,097,157. Since August, 1914, the company has paid in war claims £5,302,616. The total invested funds now exceed £114,000,000. Copies of the annual report may be obtained at 11 College Green, Dublin.—

REFUGE ASSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

The balance sheet shows that the total premium income of both branches for the year was £4,580,795, being an increase of £638,842 over the previous year, and the total assets now amount to £17,384,620, of which over £6,191,000 is held in War Loans. The claims paid in the year amounted to £2,280,416, the amount disbursed under this head since the establishment of the company being £30,497,620. The company has declared a bonus of £1 4s. per cent. in the ordinary branch, which is 4s. in excess of the rate for 1918 and 8s. in excess of the rate for 1917, and it is very gratifying to note the substantial expansion of the bonus rate, after so many years of devastating war and consequent suspension of profit sharing. The report shows a good expansion in the company's activities, and there is no doubt that the progress reported during 1919, will be maintained and even improved upon in the present year.

DIRECT TRADE WITH OTHER COUNTRIES.

At a meeting called by the Irish Bureau of Commerce, which was representative of different commercial interests, held at the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, on Wednesday evening, Mr. Laurence Casey, managing director of the Irish National Insurance Co., Ltd., presiding, it was unanimously decided to promote a joint-stock company, with a capital of £250,000, for the purpose of developing the commerce of Ireland by means of direct trade with other countries.

The Chairman stated that the meeting was called as a result of a preliminary meeting held on March 1st, at which a committee was appointed to inquire into and report on the possibilities of the import and export trade, and the best means of perfecting a scheme for the promotion of a national corporation. This committee had already prepared and submitted memorandum and articles of association, together with an abbreviated list of imports and exports, for which inquiries had been made from time to time at the offices of the Irish Bureau of Commerce.

Professor Boin MacNeill, B.A., speaking of the great benefit a corporation, such as the proposed Overseas Trading Corporation of Ireland, would be to this country, said that the project must only be placed in intelligible form before the Irish public.

LONDON WOOL SALES.

Catalogues comprising 10,463 bales of Government wool were brought forward last evening. There was again a strong demand for all classes of wool. Merinos maintaining the full advance recently established. Prices for greasy, medium, and coarse cross-breds have shown a material improvement since the opening, and may be quoted 10 per cent. above last series' closing rates. Government sheepskin sections, as compared with prices current on previous sales, for all qualities of woolled skins showed an advance, combing Merinos and fine cross-breds being from 10 to 15 per cent., and medium and coarse cross-breds 5 per cent. dearer. Short and shorn skins, however, experienced no recovery from the low values ruling in January.

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

DEPRESSION STILL UPPERMOST, BUT BUSINESS POOR. OILS BETTER. STEAM FLAT. SPINNERS HEAVY.

There were further developments in the downward movement on 'Change yesterday. The absence of fresh buying orders of moment proved disconcerting when a little stock was pressed for sale. The Funds were steady to firm outside of Funding and Victory Bonds. Banks shaded off further. Breweries indicate no change. The Steam market was further depressed, and prices fell away considerably. Marconis were about 75s., 76s. 3d. unofficially. Rails and Trams were featureless. Dunlop Rubber Ord. turned sellers at the close, but Parent Tyres rallied a little from yesterday's depression. Henry Streets, among Drapery shares, rose further. There were plenty of sellers of Textiles towards the close. Spinners fell ¼ to 6¼, and were offered almost immediately afterwards at 6, and later at 5¾. Cottons slumped 4s. 6d. to 58s., but Coats were 6d. better at 68s. 6d. Gouldings were dull and lower. Burke Ord. showed a rallying tendency. Oils were better.

In the Funds, Consols repeated 47⅛, and Guaranteed Land 2½ p.c. 55½, War Loan 5 p.c. rallied ¼ to 87¾, while Funding Loan fell ¼ to 67½, ¼, and Victory Bonds ¼ to 77¼.

Banks closed on sale. Munster and Leinsters fell ½ to 7½, and Nationals ¼ to 18.

Breweries and Distilleries closed steady. Guinness Ord. repeated 33½, the Pref. 10½, and Dunvilles 15¼.

Steam Securities were still flat, City of Dublin fell 5 to 241, sellers, and Dundalks 2 to 25.

In Telegraphs, Marconi new Ord. fell 1s. 3d. to 25s. 9d. for the 15s. per share paid shares.

Home Rails were very idle, Great Southern repeated 65½, the Guaranteed 64, and Dublin and South Eastern Pref. 49½.

Tramways failed to quote.

In Dunlops, Dunlop Rubber Ord. closed ½ lower at 10¾, ¼; the "A" 6 p.c. Pref. were better at 18s. 10½d., but the 6½ p.c. Pref. fell 3d. to 19s. Parent Ord. were finally 6d. harder at 22s. after touching 22s. 3d.

In Drapery shares, Henry street Warehouse closed 3d. better at 26s. 26s. 3d., Switzer Pref. and debs. were still sellers, Todd Burns Pref. and Debs. closed also on offer without changing hands, Crowe Wilson "Letters" fetched 16s.

Among Manufacturing shares, selling orders preponderated, Dyers rose 3d. to 59s. 9d., Coats Ord. fell 6d. to 68s. 6d., but Cottons fell 4s. 6d. to 58s., and Spinners ¼. Goulding Ord. declined ¼ to 7¼, and Lever Bros. 6½ p.c. Pref. 1½d. to 18s. 10½d., Thwaites Pref. closed sellers at 57s. 6d. or 9d. under last marking.

In Trading, etc., Burke Ord. were bid up 2s. to 80s., and Merchants Warehousing 7d. to 35s.

Among Trading, etc., Mexican Eagle Oil rose to 10¾, and Shells ¼ to 10⅞. Others quoted show no change.

BELFAST STOCK EXCHANGE.

TEXTILE ACTIVITY.

Business on the Belfast Stock Exchange has been very dull during the past week, in sympathy with the general depression in London and elsewhere. Oils were a dead letter, and Dunlops were weaker. There was some dealings in the new shares of the local companies who recently made issues, but the only feature was the activity and general advance in textiles. There was a holiday atmosphere in the market this week owing to St. Patrick's Day, and only 5 p.c. War Loan was done yesterday at 87½. London City and Midland repeated 7¼, and London County Westminster and Parr's were down ¼ at 31¾. Northern Bank A and B are offered, Railway shares were idle, but County Down and Great Northern Ordinary are in the market. Belfast Corporation 3½ p.c., 1921, was done at 94, and offered at that figure. Distillers Finance repeated 59/- for a small lot. Dunville Ord. were lower at 15½. Wm. Cowan Ord. and Pref. were offered. Antrim Iron Ore "A" shares are wanted, also Davidson 5 p.c. Deb. Imperial Tobacco were done at 34. Dunlops Rubber were slightly better at 10⅞, ¾ and ⅛. M'Caw, Stevenson and Orr Deb. repeated 58, Vickers 24/6, Dunlop New 6¾, Belfast Ropeworks New Prem., 10/-, 7/6.

BETTER STOCKS.

BUSINESS STILL LIMITED, BUT TONE MORE CHEERFUL. RALLY IN WAR LOANS.

A substantial rally in British Government Securities enabled Stock markets to conclude the week's business in something approaching a cheerful vein. The change of sentiment did not occur until the afternoon, when a rumour went around the House that a duel between the Clearing Banks and the Bank of England, backed by the Treasury, over the question of dearer money, had ended in favour of the outside institution. The assumption, however, that no increase in the Bank rate need be feared for some time appears to have been inspired by the decision of the Treasury to refrain from issuing six months' bills and to substitute therefor 12 months' bills at 5½ per cent. The Money market hardly interprets this decision as implying that the dearer money conflict has been finally disposed of, but simply takes it to mean that the Government are making arrangements that too much money shall not fall due for redemption in the autumn when they have the big Anglo-American loan to liquidate on the other side. To infer even from the Treasury decision, however, that there will actually be no rise in the Bank rate because the Government are offering 12 months' Treasury bills at 5½ per cent., savours somewhat of leaning too heavily on a broken reed. All the same the sharp recovery that occurred yesterday in Gilt-edged Securities on the remote prospect of money not becoming dearer, vividly illustrates the effect which this vital question exercises upon Stock Exchange values. The recovery in the Funds was most pronounced in the 5 p.c. War Loan and the Funding Loan, both of which improved ¼. Bank of England Stock fell 5 points to 179 as a result of the meeting. Colonial Stocks were fairly steady.

LONDON STOCKS CLOSE GOOD.

EFFECT OF TREASURY BILL ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Stock Exchange wound up the week with an irregular session, but it was matter for satisfaction that the closing phase of the day was the best. The opening showed firmness in specialities, but irregularity developed owing to week-end and monetary influences. Sentiment then took a distinct turn for the better on the Treasury bill announcement, and during the afternoon quotations levelled up in many directions under the lead of gilt-edged securities. Foreign and other War Loans established substantial advances. There was not much going on in the Colonial list, which, however, displayed more firmness of tone.

FOREIGN BONDS UNCERTAIN. — The foreign market wore a ragged appearance, and dealings were on a light scale. French Loans seesawed. The Fives were mending at the finish, but marked a net fall of ¼ at 49½. Japanese issues remained heavy in tone, being still affected by the firmer New York exchange. The better tendency of Egyptian Loans was maintained, and the Pref. Loan at 63 marked a further gain of a point. Russians were neglected. There was a rather brighter appearance to note in South Americans, and Peruvian Pref. made good its overnight fall at 53. Argentine and Brazilian Bonds were about the same.

Changes:—Rise—Peruvian Corp. Pref., ½ to 30½. Falls—French Loan, ½ to 49½; Peruvian Corp., ½ to 53; Russian Fives, ½ to 10½.

HOME RAILS RECOVER.—In the Home Railway market quotations showed a forward tendency in sympathy with Government securities, and little buying sufficed to influence the course of values. Among the trunk and trade stocks there were several net gains of ¼ in extent. Passenger stocks were rather in the background, but South-Eastern Def. picked up ½ to 32½.

Changes:—Rises—Great Eastern, ½ to 32½; Great Northern Pref., ½ to 50; Great Western, ½ to 89; London and North Western, ½ to 83½; Midland Def., ½ to 55; North-Eastern Consols, ½ to 91; South Eastern Def., ½ to 32½. Fall—Underground 6 p.c., 1 to 77½.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS QUIET.—Canpacs were quiet and unsteady without falling. In Grand Trunk Juniors, the 4 p.c. Debs. fell 2, but the 1st Pref. rose ½. Many Argentine Rails favoured holders, and marked net gains, ranging from fractions to over a point. Buenos Ayres and Pacifics at 70½ were ½ higher. Brazilian Rails remained heavy, awaiting further news regarding the Leopoldina strike, though in some quarters this development was welcomed as likely to bring the case for an advance in rates to a head. Leopoldinas at 42½ lost 1½. United of the Havana were 1 up at 92.

INDUSTRIALS FIRM, WITH VERY LITTLE DOING.

SPINNERS FLUCTUATE—TRIUMPHS HARDEN—NITRATES STRONGER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Business was still in meagre proportions when the week closed on the Miscellaneous and Industrial market yesterday. Deals were comparatively infrequent. Brightness was confined to specialities, though the Nitrate group were fairly consistently supported. In spite of this paucity of business, the tone of the market was firm, and there were few signs of depression. It must be borne in mind that over and above such items as the Bank rate, the Budget confiscation forebodings and the like, the flood of new issues has exercised no small influence upon the general position. Last week opened with a bang and for many millions of fresh capital as to effect temporary inroads into the investor's pocket. In the old days a round number of new prospectuses was considered substantial issues. There were swindles; others were so speculative as to appeal only to a small section of the public. Nowadays new issues present, in the main, such excellent propositions that the money is most frequently forthcoming. The result is that part of the money which would otherwise swell the demand for existing securities in the "House" goes into new issues.

After a weak opening, Dunlops managed to recover to the previous night's closing price. In the Miscellaneous collection, Charles Marsden picked up again. Wallpaper Deferred were also in request and finished to advantage. B.A.T. kept up well. Imperials went no lower. In the Motor group, Trimphs were wanted once more. In the Iron section, the Steel shares were inclined to go easier, though the section was not without its bright spots. Business was on a small scale, but there was no undue pressure to sell. Rubber shares were in good demand, putting on ¼ to 3, and Irvines hardened to 19s. 3d. Northumberland Shipbuilding Ord. after opening at 5s. 9d., finished at 6s. 6d. British Marconi Tubes were 3eals in fairly free about 35s. Rather conflicting ideas appear to be held about the prospects of the shares which have been in request for several days. Vickers were slightly easier for choice at 34s. 6d. Pease and Partners stiffened to 37s. 6d. Baldwins were also better at some demand, closing the turn better at 56s. 6d. Ebbw Vales were easier at 34s., and Cammell Laird were flat at 25s. J. Brown partly paid shed 1s. 6d. at 22s. 6d. B.S.A. lost 2s. at 28s. Sheffield Steel Products at 25s. 3d. were off colour. Hadfields shed ¼ at 2, and Cargo Fleet receded the same fraction to 27s. 3d. Among Coal Shares, William Cory advanced 1s. further to 34, or better, and Powell-Duffryn tacked on ¼ at 1½ ex div. In the Textile section business showed little increase, and numerous declines were recorded. There were several bright spots nevertheless. Courtaulds were firm all day on the strength of the good report. After an initial advance the shares closed about the previous day's figure at 8½. Spinners fluctuated violently. After changing hands freely, and dipping to 5¾, the shares recovered by the close of the session to 6 buyers. Bradford Dyers was one of the firmer features, advancing finally ¼ to 5½. John Wood were also a bright spot, putting on a net 6d. to 27s. 6d. Declines on the other hand were noted in Joshua Hoyle, which dropped ¼ to 4½, and in Calico Prefs., which shed 6d. to 14s. British Dye Stuffs kept the price at 17s. 6d., but the Prefs. lost the turn at 15s. 9d. Coats were firm at 5¾. Cottons closed unchanged at 52. Bleachers were 6d. easier on balance, closing at 54s.

The balance of movements in the Nitrate section was in favour of holders. A firm tone prevailed most of the session, and a few good rises were recorded. Alianza were prominent with a rise of a point to 22½. Rosario were helped by the dividend, and rose ½ to 10½. Pan De Asucars were also in good demand, finishing with a net gain of ¼ at 21. Dunlops, after falling to 10½ offered, closed a more active market at 10¾, showing no change on the day. Charles Marsden were in request up to 33s. 6d., which showed a rise of 2s. 3d. Cements were a better market at 52s. 6d., or 9d. higher. British Aluminium shed ¼ at 1½, and Bells United Asbestos were ¼ lower at 2½. British Oil and Cake receded 1s. 9d. to 37s. Eastmans were easier at 18s. 3d. Pullman Car were down ¼ at 2½. Spratts Patent shed ¼ at 1½. B.A.T. were unaltered, being steady at 5⅞ ex div. and Imperials kept the price at 62s. Canadian-American Securities made up lower for the most part. Lake Superior were 1½ up at 27, and Dominion Steel Pref. gained a point at 83½.

BRIGHTER MINING MARKETS.

BUSINESS STILL RESTRICTED, BUT SOUTH AFRICANS HARDEN.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The more cheerful feeling which developed in the Stock Exchange on Thursday was maintained yesterday, and although, owing to the approach of the week-end, business failed to expand to any extent, prices were inclined to harden. The extension of the period of repayment of Treasury bills on favourable terms imparted a better tone to the gilt-edged market, and this was reflected in most other departments. Mining markets could boast no great accession of business, and in the Kaffir section dealings were confined almost entirely to favourites, but small improvements were fairly plentiful, and there was nowhere any selling of importance. Some of the far-eastern and finance descriptions were harder, and the quotable shrinkages numbered less than half-a-dozen. Rhodesians remained dull, and there is no doubt that the continuance of the railway strike is contributing to the uneasiness of the market.

The Paris bourse kept firm, but a couple of the Diamond Pref. issues eased on a little offering. A sharp rally of £18 to £353 10s. in the price of tin failed to offset the effects of the publication of the previous day's weakness of the metal, and sales by nervous holders reduced quotations practically all round. Although fairly numerous, losses were not individually important, for shrewd operators were picking up the better class shares on any decline. Apart from Gold Coast Amalgamated, West African Gold shares, where altered, were lower, and one or two Barriers and Westralians receded, but the Hampton group displayed firmness. Tintos and Arizona Copper were dull spots, and it was rumoured in regard to the latter that the negotiations with the American group may fall through owing to the altered conditions of the Metal market. In the Miscellaneous department, Burmas were again dull, but Colombian Mining rallied. Other movements were mostly downward. According to cabled advices, the fire in the El Bordo mine of the Santa Gertrudis is apparently extinguished.

SLIGHTLY LOWER PRICES RULE FOR LEADING OILS.

ROYAL DUTCH A FIRM EXCEPTION—TRINIDAD CENTRAL RECEDE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Firmness characterised the Oil Share market at the commencement of business yesterday, higher prices being quoted for most of the leading counters. Soon after the start a reaction occurred, which was succeeded by a rally with which the end in sympathy with an improvement in the Gilt-edged market. On balance, however, lower prices ruled for Shells, Mexican Eagles, and Burmahs. Royal Dutch were a firm exception. Trinidad Centrals lost the greater part of the preceding day's rise. As regards other Trinidad issues, United British met with a fair demand and moved up, but Leaseholds remained quiet. With regard to Rumanian Consolidated, it was rumoured in the market that the company has come to an arrangement with regard to the claim for compensation against the British Government. According to the talk, the authorities will pay the company £500,000 sterling in respect of the damage done, while consideration will be given later to any further claim the company may make. The view held in the market is that if the terms are accepted the company will be placed in a very good financial position. The production of the Rumanian Consolidated for the past month, announced yesterday, amounts to 2,348 tons, as against 1,888 tons for January and 1,511 tons in December last. A recovery occurred in Lobitos and Kern Rivers, while Venezuelan Oil Concessions were strongly bid for in the "street." Scottish American had a dull appearance at one time, but made some recovery in the late dealings. Closing prices:—

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT IN RUBBER SHARES.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

There was a slightly harder tone in the Rubber Share Market yesterday, in sympathy with the better feeling which prevailed round the House. The recovery, however, was only half-hearted, the movements in quotations being irregular. Rubber itself moved up a trifle, and finished 2s. 4½d. per lb. Anglo-Dutch lost part of yesterday's rise, and finished 53s. 3d. Ayer Hitams were 3s. 9d. Batu Rakits were 1s. 3d. improved to 2½. Bandjarsarie were dull at 1¾. Batu Rata were up ¼ at 43s. 9d., and Bukit Selangor 1½d. as 4s. 4½d. Highlands were a trifle better at 58s. 6d., and Kajang Java were ½ to 50s. 49 QUEEN STREET, DUBLIN.

IMPORTANT SALE OF SUPERIOR FATTENING FARM, WITH SLATED RESIDENCE AND SUBSTANTIAL OUT-OFFICES, COOLATRATH, THE WARD, CO. DUBLIN.

ONLY 6½ MILES FROM THE CITY.

PATRICK O'CONNOR & SON

ARE FAVOURED WITH INSTRUCTIONS FROM J. RYAN, ESQ., TO SELL BY AUCTION, AT THEIR ESTATE SALEROOMS, 49 QUEEN STREET, DUBLIN, On THURSDAY, 8TH APRIL, AT 1.30 O'CLOCK,

ALL THE INTEREST AND GOODWILL IN THE LANDS OF COOLATRATH, Containing 144a. 0r. 20p., Statute, subject to an annuity of £97 10s. 0d., payable to the Irish Land Commission. Poor Law Valuation, £156.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

This very valuable fattening farm, on which the owner has expended a very considerable amount, is thoroughly drained, on the most approved modern system, the gateways being built over 6-inch water pipes, and the fences made with the least possible waste, and faced with thorn quicks. The farm is prime fattening land, all under grass, with the exception of 7 acres (Irish) under tillage, with Scotch Abundance oats. There are about 11 acres (Irish) of very promising first crop meadows. The farm is very securely fenced, well sheltered and watered by two streams.

The dwellinghouse is a two-storeyed slated building, contains parlour, sittingroom, kitchen, 5 bedrooms, and dairy. The out-offices, which are extensive, and in excellent order, comprise slated barn, range of stabling (slated), containing horse stables, cattle sheds, turnip shed, and poultry house; also large double stall-feeding shed, to hold 26 cattle, with all modern feeding arrangements and cement floors. There are three other galvanised sheds for cattle and implements, etc.

The Owner has recently erected an up-to-date sheep dipping tank and pen attached, all built in cement. The yard, which is enclosed with iron gates, hung on cement piers, has a pump with a never failing water supply.

The Auctioneers, having personally inspected the farm, desire to draw the attention of intending purchasers to this very desirable holding, situate so near to the city, and the owner will be happy to show intending purchasers over same, on production of an order from them.

For further particulars and conditions of Sale and orders to view, apply to

Messrs. D. and T. FITZGERALD, Solicitors, 20 St. Andrew street, Dublin; or to the Auctioneers,

SALE OF ATTRACTIVE RESIDENCE STANDING ON 1A. 0R. 3P. LAND, HELD FOR EVER AT NOMINAL RENT,

LARINE, MAYNOOTH, CO. KILDARE,

ONLY TWO MINUTES' WALK FROM MAYNOOTH RAILWAY STATION.

PATRICK O'CONNOR and SON are favoured with instructions from the Trustees appointed under order of the Court, to SELL BY AUCTION, at their ESTATE SALEROOMS, 49 QUEEN STREET, DUBLIN, On THURSDAY, 1st APRIL, at 1.30 o'clock, all the interest in the premises known as "LARINE," MAYNOOTH, held for ever, subject only to the nominal Fee Farm Rent of £2 4s. 2d.

The premises consist of a substantial and compact 2 storey slated Residence, containing drawing-room, diningroom, 3 sitting rooms, 6 bedrooms, kitchen, with close ranges, scullery, bathroom (hot and co'd water), all in excellent order.

The out-offices in enclosed yard consist of coach or motor house, harness room, six loose boxes, hay shed, coal house, etc., all substantially built and in perfect order. There are two force pumps, which give an excellent water supply. There are also a small garden and paddock adjoining.

The property is most advantageously situated in the market square of the town of Maynooth, only two minutes' walk from Maynooth Railway Station, and from its convenient position, and being subject to a merely nominal rent, should prove a most attractive and lucrative investment to the purchaser.

For all further particulars apply to payable out of the premises, 58 DAME STREET and 29 EUSTACE STREET, held by Vendor under Fee-farm Grant dated 1896, subject to £11 13s. 7d. per annum. No. 58 Dame street is leased for a term of 100 years from 1874 at the yearly rent of £90, and 29 Eustace street for 900 years from March, 1784, at £20 6s. 2d. per annum, present currency. The total rental is thus £110 6s. 2d. from both houses, and deducting the Fee-farm rent of £11 13s. 7d., leaves a well-secured rent of £98 12s. 7d. per annum for sale.

LOT 3.—£46 3s. 1D. PER ANNUM, payable out of No. 30 and 31 UPPER MERRION STREET, as follows:—Both houses are held for 1534 years from 29th September, 1803, at rent of £81 per annum, present currency. This lease will expire in March, 1929. No. 30 Upper Merrion street is sub-leased till March, 1937, at £21 per annum, and No. 31 Upper Merrion street till September, 1936, at £46 3s. 1d. per annum. There is, therefore, a well-secured profit rent of £46 3s. 1d. per annum, subject to adjustment.

LOT 4.—£46 3s. 1D, PER ANNUM FEE-FARM RENT,
payable out of 14 TRINITY STREET (corner of St. Andrew's Lane), held by Vendor in Fee-Simple. The premises are retail licence, and tenant holds under Fee-farm Grant dated 1897, at £46 3s. 1d. per annum. This rent is a security of the highest class.

LOT 5.—£46 3s. 1D. PER ANNUM FEE-FARM RENT, payable out of 16 TRINITY STREET (corner of Dame Lane), held by Vendor in Fee-Simple. The premises are retail licensed, and tenant holds under Fee-farm Grant at £46 3s. 1d. This rent is absolutely secure.

LOT 6.—No. 17 TRINITY ST., SECURE RENT & VALUABLE REVERSION. These premises are held by Vendor in Fee-simple, and are sub-leased for 31 years from 1st July, 1904, at the yearly rent of £37 10s. 0d. The tenant's lease will expire in 15 years, when purchaser will be entitled to possession of the premises, which are situated in a first-class position, within one door of Dame street.

LOT 7.—£31 10s. 0D. PER ANNUM, payable out of RETAIL LICENSED PREMISES, 141 TOWNSEND STREET (corner of Mark street), held by Vendor in Fee-simple, and sub-leased for 950 years from 1824 at £34 2s. 6d., late currency, equivalent to £31 10s. 0d. per annum present currency.

LOT 8.—£92 6s. 1D. PER ANNUM, payable out of 14 WESTMORELAND STREET, at present in the occupation of the Scottish Equitable Life Assurance Society. Held by Vendor under Fee-farm Grant at the yearly rent of £21 10s. 11½d., tenant holds by Fee-farm Grant at £113 17s. 1d. per annum, leaving for sale a well-secured rent of £92 6s. 1d. per annum.

LOT 9.—£113 15s. 0D. PER ANNUM, payable out of 9 WESTMORELAND STREET, held by Vendor in Fee-simple, and sub-leased for 999 years from 1805 at £153 8s. 10d. per annum late currency, equivalent to £113 17s. 1d. The rent paid for many years is £113 16s. 0d. A first-class security.

LOT 10.—13 WESTMORELAND STREET, SECURE RENT AND REVERSION. These premises are held by Vendor in Fee-simple, and are sub-leased for 42 years from 1903 at the low rent of £150 per annum. On the expiration of this lease purchaser will be entitled to possession, when a substantially increased rent will be obtainable.
